Note to the Reader

In compiling the key words, the description of the planets and signs relates to the gender of the signs (Virgo = feminine, Libra = masculine, for example) and planets (Venus = feminine, Mars = masculine). The reader should understand that both sexes are included when the word “king” is used to describe the qualities of a Leo, for example.

Some words—like “Taurus, the Bull”—cannot be translated into a female equivalent without becoming rather absurd (“the Bulless” or “the Cow”?). Here we must find comfort in astrology, which describes Taurus (along with Cancer) as the most archetypally feminine of all the signs, despite its masculine name. We ask the readers to equally apply all the astrological keywords to themselves, despite any inherent gender implications.

Foreword

Picture this: you're at a cocktail party, conversing with someone, when they suddenly start talking about astrology. It begins well enough with a brief mention of Sun signs but quickly goes off the rails when they start speaking like this: “The Moon aligned with Neptune and squared my natal Venus, which is quincunx with my North Node natally . . . no wonder I'm having trouble with love.”

Now you're unsure if they're referring to horoscopes, astronomy . . . or hitting on you. So you mumble something about needing to refresh your cocktail and slink away. You might even feel foolish.

But you're not. You've just been hit with what some astrologers call “astrobabble,” a complex way of talking about astrology.

Astrology is the language of the cosmos. As in any language, there are rules and patterns to follow. If you're fluent, you can articulate astrological data without blinking a third eye. But for folks who are newer to all things zodiac, the terminology can sound bewildering.

At its simplest, we might say astrology is nothing more than symbols and patterns. A standardized list of meanings should suffice. But if that was the case, we risk sounding like robots as we rattle off memorized information. There would be no nuance, and that isn't how language works.

Astrology is more than a string of data. Like any language, patterns, symbols, and intricate details make it a rich lexicon, with room to interpret, unique to the individual. If you've ever had your chart read by someone who parrots data without a thorough understanding of what it all means on an intuitive level, you probably didn't connect to the information. That's because we don't talk like that in regular conversations (unless we are robots).

Learning another language—any language—is confusing at first until you understand the basics. Once you have that down, conversations become possible. Through those, you can pick up on subtle cues, slang, and different ways of conveying the information. Language isn't simply lists of words in a particular order. Words have a “feel” to them, and once you comprehend that, you can speak with confidence and eloquence.

Keywords for Astrology by Hajo Banzhaf and Anna Haebler may seem like a book with simple lists for all the various parts of astrological charts, but it's more than that. In the introduction, the authors state: “When we describe every detail and give it a pronounced name, the purpose is to make learning and remembering astrological terminology easier and to stimulate thought about the configurations.”

They begin with a concise breakdown of the horoscope, which sets the reader up with a solid but easy-to-grasp foundation on what reading a chart entails. The authors compare the horoscope to a “play” with the planets as actors, the signs as the role they play, the houses as stages of life, and the aspects as how the actors interact with one another. This analogy is a brilliant and simple explanation that both beginners and seasoned pros will appreciate.

From there, the authors demonstrate how to use the keywords to interpret every part of the chart. A handy “mad libs” style summarization of the horoscope helps the reader find a succinct way to express the energy behind every astrological component. For example, “I am a person with the intrinsic character of (Sun/sign), and I find my greatest development in (Sun/house).” Using this formula with the keywords provided, I can create this pithy statement: “I am a person with the intrinsic character of Gemini, and I find my greatest development in the 8th house.” As I pore through the list of Gemini characteristics, I might choose “the philosopher” and “life's enigma” for the 8th house. Now it becomes “I am a philosopher about life's enigmas.” Genius.

If you assume the book is nothing more than a list of words, you're in for a surprise. Instead, the authors list strengths, problem areas, shadow sides, archetypes, and more. I especially love how they convey the essence of each astrological component with a title. For example, Saturn in the 5th house is “Stage Fright or Playing Prohibited.” I have this in my chart, and it's true. I am terrified of the stage and was a “serious” kid who was parentified at an early age. That title perfectly summed up my Saturn situation!

Everything is smartly laid out with charts that keep the information organized. An astrological view of the world explains how it all works, while the glossary of astrological terms rounds out everything perfectly. This is a handy reference, almost like an astrology thesaurus, that every astrologer will reach for time and time again.

I'd like to finish with this admission: I have three planets in Virgo, which means I happen to love lists. They give me a sense of order. That's what this book does: it organizes every part of astrology so one can make sense of it. Ultimately, it's the perfect guide to learning how to speak the language of “me” in my own astrological terms.

Theresa Reed

Introduction

This book explains all the essential configurations in a horoscope by showing both aspects of its expression—the light and the dark—with vivid key words and concise descriptions.

Readers should avoid the popular error of getting lost in the details and even mistaking a part for the whole: a horoscope consists of an abundance of individual factors which only allow the entire picture to emerge when all the factors are seen in relationship to each other. Correspondingly, if you look up something relating to your horoscope and shake your head in disbelief after reading the description, you should not be too quick to leave it at that. Because of a multitude of reasons, an astrological configuration can be lived in such a concealed manner that the person concerned is quite certain it has nothing to do with him or her. It is certainly easier to admit to the aspects of our personality which flatter the ego or correspond to the spirit of the times. As a result, people had difficulty accepting themselves as mystics during the 50s because the term “mystic” had almost the same meaning as “crackpot” at that time. In contrast, today it is considered an esoteric compliment when a person's mediumistic capabilities are confirmed during astrological consultations.

In a very general sense, it can be said that configurations strongly affected by Saturn or Pluto are permitted access to the conscious mind only with reluctance. Furthermore. in our society we may observe that men prefer to project their feminine planets (Moon and Venus) onto women, and women in response prefer to delegate their masculine planets (Sun and Mars) to men: the more difficult the position of these planets, the greater the tendency toward this type of projection. Even without looking at the horoscope, this kind of projection can be recognized when a man accomplishes overkill with the statement that “all women are ...,” or when a woman generalizes about “men.”

As Johannes Kepler very clearly states, the horoscope shows your potential and not your predestination. The situation of astrology is similar to the way researchers can use modern chaos research to perceive the formulas concealed behind a multitude of manifestations (such as weather clouds) without being able to predict in which form this formula will manifest itself. The horoscope is a formula which is the basis for the life of a human being. Yet, what you make of it, how far you let yourself drift along, or to which heights of development you rise, all lie in a realm beyond the possibility of interpretation.

These keywords should then be understood as a description of one portion of the whole. Many opportunities for development are concealed in every aspect in the chart. However, how, and to what degree, they are manifested, and what level they attain always depends upon the personality's degree of maturity—and precisely this factor is not revealed in the horoscope. This is why we have also consciously dispensed with stating the commonly made differentiation between good and bad, easy and difficult, harmonious and tension-laden, auspicious and misfortune-bringing configurations. Such definitions are foolish. We have seen horoscopes that were full of so-called harmonious aspects, yet the people affected were caught up in deep crises in life. Life simply ran on without meaning. Nothing had challenged them and/or even forced them to make something of their lives. Everything was simply easy and superficial, and after a certain point in time it became unbearable.

On the other hand, it is widely known that the horoscopes of great personalities are charged with tensions. For this reason, we have described all the horoscope factors in their polar tensions as strengths and problem areas—or—for the aspects—as harmony and discord. We have followed the development from the obstruction to the solution solely in the case of Saturn, the Lord of Time (Cronos). It may certainly be true that a difficult astrological configuration, such as a planet positioned in “detriment” or in “fall,” or irritated or impaired by difficult aspects (such as a square or an opposition) initially attracts attention from its critical side. Yet, there is not only the possibility of transformation, but also the responsibility to transform, in each of these configurations. From the astrological perspective, the horoscope describes the starting situation in which we begin our life on Earth. Now our task is polishing ourselves against our various tensions until we succeed in uniting all the original discord into a great harmonious symphony.

Malicious tongues will grumble that this book is a “cookbook” in which astrology has now once and for all been prepared and served like a collection of recipes. These people will have fundamentally misunderstood our intentions. When we describe every detail and give it a pronounced name, the purpose is to make learning and remembering astrological terminology easier and to stimulate thought about the configurations which are infrequently discussed elsewhere, such as the light and shadow sides of the slowly moving planets in the water houses. Above all, however, this book's concentrated form is designed to save the readers from all the superfluous words through which they often must sift to find important concepts, and the tabular form should enable readers to quickly make comparisons, since comparable statements for all the related configurations are always written under the same heading.

Organization and Levels of Meaning in the Horoscope

The interplay of three different levels of effect are expressed in a horoscope. There are planets in signs, planets in houses, and aspects between planets. A general overview of what that means follows.

1. THE PLANETS IN THE SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC (THE DAILY CONFIGURATION)

This interplay involves the distribution of all ten bodies (eight planets and two luminaries) throughout the entire heavens, no matter whether the "planets" are found below or above the horizon. (Readers should note that the Sun and Moon are not planets, but in order to avoid clumsy language we call them "planets.") You are born under a "sign," and this is where the Sun is located in the heavens at the time of your birth. The zodiac corresponds to the orbit of the Sun, and every year the Sun stands in the same place at the same time, so the position of the Sun (= sign) can be read from the date of birth. The Sun moves through all twelve signs. It does not move into the next sign precisely at midnight. Deviations of up to one day can occur, particularly because of the leap year cycle. The exact position of the Sun on the day when the signs change must—this applies to all the other planets as well—be read in tables, which we call an ephemeris.

2. THE PLANETS IN THE HOUSES

The decisive factor here is the daily "rotation of the heavens around the Earth" (which means the rotation of the Earth on its own axis). The horizontal axis divides the circle into the visible heavens and the invisible heavens beneath the horizon. This results in the Ascendant (AC), which is the point of sunrise on the eastern horizon, and the Descendant (DC) on the opposite side (figure 2a). This axis from the meridional point (MC = Medium Coeli) to the midnight point (IC = Imum Coeli) divides the circle into rising and descending signs. The four quarter sections (figure 2b) created in this manner are then divided again into thirds, whereby a "spoked wheel" with 12 fields (figure 2c) is created. These fields are also called "houses."

3. THE ASPECTS

These are the significant distances of the planets from each other. The aspects can be best illustrated using the example of the Moon, which forms all possible aspects with the Sun during the course of a month.

The so-called harmonious and disharmonious aspects are created (as in music) by dividing the circle with the cardinal numbers, whereby harmonious and disharmonious aspects (tones) result:

360° ÷ 1 = 360 = Conjunction	= Planets located directly next to each other.
360° ÷ 2 = 180 = Opposition	= Planets located opposite each other.
360° ÷ 3 = 120 = Trine	= Distance between planets corresponds to one side of a triangle.
360° ÷ 4 = 90 = Square	= Distance between planets corresponds to one side of a square.
360° ÷ 5 = 72 = Quintile	= Distance between planets corresponds to one side of a pentagon.
360° ÷ 6 = 60 = Sextile	= Distance between planets corresponds to one side of a hexagon.

4. ILLUSTRATION OF THE LEVELS OF MEANING IN A HOROSCOPE

The horoscope portrays the play of life as a comedy or a tragedy, and the planets are the actors in the play. The signs of the zodiac in which they stand illustrate the role. The house in which they are located shows the place on the stage of life where they want to become particularly active, and the aspects describe the way and manner in which the actors interact with each other: they support, impede, or block each other, or they may even be indifferent to each other.

As you can see, a purely harmonious horoscope would be among the most boring of plays. It also illustrates that harmonies and tensions can be expressed not only through aspects, but also through the appropriate or inappropriate roles of the actors and the places where they stand.

How to Use This Book

If you are unaccustomed to reading the horoscope, you need to learn the basic symbols and signs. You will also need to learn the aspects, or you can have an astrologer break these down for you. Many computer-generated charts spell out the details of the chart, and will list the planets (and Sun and Moon) in the signs, the signs that rule the twelve houses in your personal chart, and the aspects between the planets. We have printed a ready reference of the signs and symbols on the inside back cover of this book, so you can quickly look up symbols that are unfamiliar to you. To give you an idea of how signs and symbols work, we have interpreted some of the details of Albert Schweitzer's horoscope.

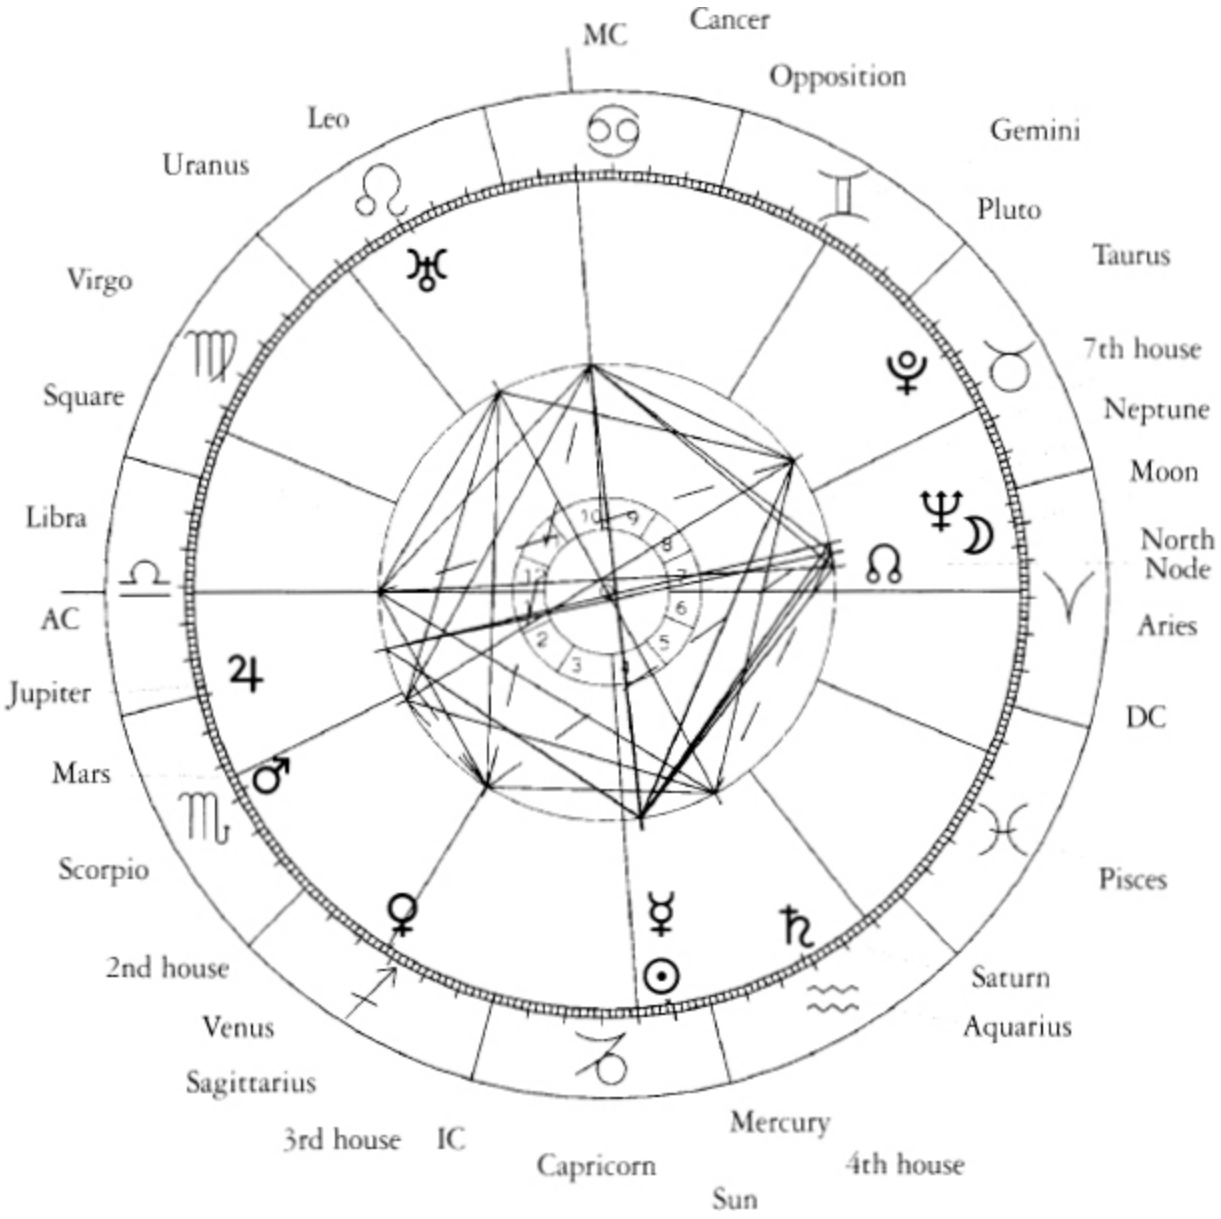

Figure 4. Albert Schweitzer. January 14. 1875. 23:50:00 LMT. Kaysersberg, Alsace. Placidus Houses. Data from brith certificate.

The Sun (☉) is found in the 4th house together with Mercury (☿) in Capricorn (♑), the Moon (☽) together with Neptune (♆) and the Moon's Node (☊) in Aries (♈) in the 7th house. Venus (♀) is located in Sagittarius (♐) in the 3rd house, Mars (♂) in Scorpio (♏) in the 2nd house, etc. The Ascendant (AC) is Libra (♎), the Medium Coeli (MC) is Cancer (♋), the Descendant (DC) is Aries (♈), and Capricorn (♑) is located on the Imum Coeli (IC).

The aspects can be read from the lines connecting the individual planets. Here Saturn (♄) is located in Aquarius (♒) in the 4th house, which is directly opposite from Uranus (♅) in Leo (♌) in the 11th house and thereby forms an opposition. In contrast, it is one-fourth of a circle away from Mars (♂) in Scorpio (♏) in the 2nd house and forms a square aspect.

When you now look up the meanings of the signs, you should always read both the light and the shadow sides (strengths and problems, or harmonies and dissonances). Two possibilities are always contained in the constellation, and no formula will provide certainty in recognizing whether people live out and fulfill their abilities and tasks on a high level of development, or simply let themselves drift.

There are various ways to discover the meaning of a horoscope. The easiest way is to first look at the main themes. Start with the Sun (☉), symbolizing the intrinsic character of a human being. Then look at the Moon (☽), which embodies the temperament. Next, find the Ascendant for information about your role and behavior. Your ability to assert yourself is shown by Mars (♂), Venus (♀) illustrates your loves, preferences, and tastes. Jupiter (♃) symbolizes the concepts of values and ideals, while Saturn (♄) will show your limitations. Uranus (♅) represents your love of freedom, Neptune (♆) the visions, and Pluto (♇) shows what fascinates you. When doing this, both the sign and the position within the house should be taken into consideration, as well as the aspects of the respective planets. If you become confused by the many statements which result, it is helpful to visualize the various levels of meaning (see page 13). This will certainly assist you in finding the red thread once again.

You also have the possibility of summarizing your horoscope into a chain sentence in order to attain the first general survey of your nature. To do this, replace the words in parentheses with the key words you have found under the respective headings in this book:

I am a person with the intrinsic character of	(☉ Sun/sign) (☉ Sun/house).

You can find one further interesting way to approach a horoscope by first looking where your developmental goal lies (☊ Moon's Node/house) and how this theme fits in with the area of your main self-development (☉ Sun/house), with what is becoming increasingly important in the course of your life (Medium Coeli), with your role (Ascendant), your feelings (☽ Moon), etc.

You also have the possibility of visualizing the horoscope by using the picture key found at the end of the book (page 263).

The LUMINARIES, the PLANETS, and the MOON'S NODE

Sun

DIGNITY:	DETRIMENT:	EXALTATION:	FALL:

Orbits through the entire zodiac in one year.
Stays an average of one month in each sign.

ARCHETYPE: The hero, the father, the king.	SHADOW: The overbearing person, the megalomaniac.

PRINCIPLE: The Sun embodies your intrinsic character, your central concerns, the area and manner in which most of your personality development occurs. It symbolizes your path and goal, what is most essential to you. It represents the yang principle, consciousness, the mind, the will, activity, and vital energy, dynamic force, individual creativity and self-realization, radiance, warmth, motivational capability, courage, optimism, and impetus in life. Together with Mars, the Sun embodies the masculine principle in the horoscope. At the same time, the Sun reflects the fatherly masculine element which expresses the attitude toward one's own father, substitute fathers, and people in positions of authority.

STRENGTH: The self-confident individual. Powerful development of one's own being. Makes a strong impression and has a striking personality. Healthy self-reliance, very lively, exudes warmth. Is hearty, magnanimous, creative, independent, and self-confident.

PROBLEM AREA: The overextended person. Either a self-aggrandizing exaggeration of one's own possibilities and a puffed-up, arrogant personality, or a frail, weak-willed, fawning posture with great difficulties in the development of one's own essence, a late bloomer.

GOAL: The urge to become what one is, i.e., to develop individual character. The search for wholeness, for the inner center, the true identity. The "journey of a hero."

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE SUN PRINCIPLE: All role models and forceful personalities: father, rulers, authority figures, politicians, organizers, aristocracy, but also egotists, tyrants, swindlers, and megalomaniacs.

PEIYSICAL CORRELATIONS: Heart, spinal cord, blood circulation, solar plexus, respiratory system.

MYTHOLOGICAL CORRELATIONS: Helios (Greek)/ Sol (Roman), the sun god—above all, Apollo (Greek and Roman), also often called Phoebus (bright), son of Zeus and Leto, god of the bright sunny days, the arts, healing arts, and wisdom.

THE SUN IN THE SIGNS

This has the same meaning as the description of the individual signs of the zodiac on pages 24 to 47.

Since the sun stands for the intrinsic character of a person, all of the essential features, such as the ARCHETYPE, SHADOW, MOTIVATION, and TASK IN LIFE, as well as what he or she STRIVES FOR, and the PITFALLS specific to each sign, EXAMPLES, and the typical GUIDING PRINCIPLE are to be found here. In addition, ACTIONS, THOUGHTS, and FEELINGS are described in their characteristic natures. Without specifically depicting it, the portrait resulting from the features is the picture of a mature man, expressed as part of his self-image in the horoscope of a man, and as part of the searching image in the horoscope of a woman.

The TYPICAL OCCUPATIONAL AREAS are those generally assigned to the respective astrological signs and not limited to the position of the Sun. They can also be addressed by a noticeable grouping of planets within a sign or through Mercury, the MC, or other important configurations.

DIGNITY:	DETRIMENT:	EXALTATION:	FALL:

Orbits through the entire zodiac in 27 days.
Stays an average of about 2 days in each sign.

ARCHETYPE: The mother, the child.	SHADOW: The monster that devours everything.

PRINCIPLE: The Moon represents the inner nature, the feeling realm, the unconscious, and the instinctive reactions. The position of the Moon shows in what direction you are urged, what you spontaneously react to, and what you instinctively detest and avoid. According to the cyclical character of the Moon, these are delicate and erratic occurrences, which come and go according to their own rhythms. The Moon also stands for the ability to establish contact, the longing for closeness and security, the home, the way of life, attachment to home, memories, and the need for emotional security. Together with Venus, the Moon symbolizes the feminine principle in the horoscope. The Moon embodies the motherly feminine element, through reflecting the mother and childhood experiences as well as substitute mothers, even those of institutions like stock exchanges, universities (alma mater), or the mother church.

STRENGTH: The soulful individual. Harmonious configurations support the flourishing of the emotional nature, the willingness to open one's inner self, and trust in the wisdom of unconscious powers which guide people. This represents security, emotional safety, and a healthy relationship to family, background, homeland, and especially to the mother and one's own motherhood.

PROBLEM AREA: The moody person. Difficult configurations represent emotional wounds, reticence, mistrust, fear, touchiness, moods, unpredictability, as well as vanity, exaggerated smugness, laziness, and lethargy.

GOAL: Development of feelings and fantasies, encountering the images of the soul. The urge toward emotional security and closeness. The blossoming of female nature. The urge to build a nest, start a family, and be a lively part of the clan. The desire to be well-liked or become popular.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE MOON PRINCIPLE: Everyone in serving, care-giving, and helping positions: doctors, healers, nurses, spiritual counselors, therapists, and those representing dreams and fantasies in art, in writing, and in the circus and theater.

PHYSICAL CORRELATIONS: Stomach, uterus, lymph system, female breasts, circulation of fluids, autonomous nervous system.

MYTHOLOGICAL CORRELATIONS: The triple Goddess as expression of the cycles of life: 1. Artemis (Greek)/Diana (Roman), the virgin = growth. 2. Selene (Greek)/Luna (Roman), the woman = maturity. 3. Hecate (Greek and Roman), the old one = decline.

THE MOON IN THE SIGNS

See pages 50 to 61.

The description initially reflects the typical mother-child relationship for the sign which can be read from the position of the Moon: the CHILD in the person, the DIFFICULT LESSONS TO LEARN, and INNER MOTHER IMAGE or the way in which the respective person is prepared to see the mother.

Furthermore, a description is given of how the Moon is expressed as MOTHER in the mature adult and its meaning as light and shadow aspects in the IMAGE OF THE WOMAN. For a feminine horoscope, an essential aspect of the self-image for the mature woman is expressed. In contrast, in a man's horoscope this signifies a part of his inner femininity and his searching image in a partnership.

The additional meaning of the respective Moon position for each person, independent of age and sex, can be found in the two sections STRENGTH and PROBLEM AREA.

Since the Moon also stands for home, homeland, and the type of home, the corresponding image is described under STYLE OF LIVING.

Mercury

DIGNITY:	DETRIMENT:	EXALTATION:	FALL:
♊ and ♍	♐ and ♓	♍	♓

Orbits through the entire zodiac in about 87 days.
Stays an average of 7 days in each sign.

ARCHETYPE: The trader, the navigator, the scout.	SHADOW: The crook, the liar.

PRINCIPLE: Mercury stands for mind and intellect, for the theory of combinations, speech, communication, mediation, tactics, knowledge, mental flexibility, orientation facility, analytical and logical thought, and the manner of judging and deciding. Mercury is also the negotiator between the conscious and the unconscious mind because its powers of thought support the recognition and understanding of the images of the unconscious, such as dreams. Mercury also represents expression in speech, curiosity, the thirst for knowledge, and a certain readiness, ambition, and ability to learn.

STRENGTH: The clever person. Quick, clear ascertaining of thoughts and ideas. Ingenious capacity for following a train of thought; combining, analyzing, and differentiating. Talent for observing and having a "good grasp." Excellent capacity to adapt or orient oneself. Collects information with great curiosity. Pursues knowledge and enjoys the pleasure of recognition. Nimbleness of language, quick-wittedness, and rhetorical knowledge. Smooth sales person and negotiator. Methodical doubt which leads to steadily increasing insight. Carefully thinks through and weighs ideas and examines for accuracy and usefulness.

PROBLEM AREA: The trickster. Interest in everything is only superficial and passing. Cunning, sly bluffer. Calculating, corruptible, crafty, audacious, false, and wily. Cannot see the whole picture. Feels no obligation to honor values. Profanes the holy, is ice-cold in business, and would "sell his grandmother."

GOAL: Collecting, mediating, and distributing knowledge and information. Search for new perceptions and new paths. Critical examination and fine differentiation of thoughts, ideas, and theories, as well as logical points of view, including their usefulness. But, also bluffing, deceiving, and tricking.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE MERCURY PRINCIPLE: Teachers, school children, university students, poets, salespeople, analysts, doctors, critics, scientists, researchers, journalists, linguists, orators, translators, attorneys, but also forgers, counterfeiters, cheaters, thieves, liars, and swindlers.

PHYSICAL CORRELATIONS: Respiratory system, nervous system, speech center.

MYTHOLOGICAL CORRELATIONS: Hermes (Greek)/Mercury (Roman)—messenger of the gods with winged shoes, mediator between heaven and earth. God of paths and journeys, business people and artisans, shepherds, thieves, and highwaymen. God of speech and guide for souls into the underworld. Messenger of dreams.

MERCURY IN THE SIGNS

See pages 62 to 67.

In addition to the STRENGTH and PROBLEM AREA specific to this sign, the NARRATIVE STYLE and the manner in which the respective Mercury MAKES DECISIONS, along with the criteria BETWEEN which Mercury prefers to differentiate is presented here. (How the decision is implemented is decided by the position of Mars.)

Venus

DIGNITY:	DETRIMENT:	EXALTATION:	FALL:
♉ and ♎	♈ and ♏	♓	♍

Orbits through the entire zodiac in 225 days.
Stays an average of about 19 days in each sign.

ARCHETYPE: The muse, the lover, the beautiful one.	SHADOW: Persephone, the femme fatale, the whore.

PRINCIPLE: Venus is the symbol for love, feeling, harmony, the ability to give and take, relationships, and partnership. As the embodiment of the erotic, Venus also means temptation, the capability to devote oneself completely, longing, and the desire for union, connection, and merging. Venus represents esthetic perception and therefore, on one hand, artistic interests and talents; on the other hand, good taste and sensory pleasures that grant us the enjoyment of hearing, smelling, touching, tasting, and seeing. Both the Moon and Venus represent the female principle. However, Venus represents the aspect of the young woman, the beloved, and the independent woman.

STRENGTHS: The temptress. Aspires toward vivacious relationships, harmony, balance, reconciliation, and warm-hearted empathy. Would like to be sought after, loved, pampered, and flattered. Loves luxury, elegance, and good manners. Patient, can be very devoted, understanding, benevolent, sincere, sociable, affectionate, graceful, and unselfish. Certain of taste and artistically talented. Sensuous, esthetic, with a cultivated enjoyment of life. Enjoyment of everything that is beautiful.

PROBLEM AREA: The phony. Separates from others easily and often. Overemphasizes external factors. Vain, superficial, tasteless, tricky, perverse, addicted to amusement, easily seduced, greedy to possess, compulsive, lazy, unscrupulous, infantile and unrestrained, uncouth, jealous, cruel, snobbish, argumentative, and depraved.

GOAL: To be sought after and to search for, enter into and create relationships. To cultivate love and eroticism in their highest forms. To express and nurture beauty, art, and harmony in this world. To develop and maintain good style, cultivated manners, and fine taste.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE VENUS PRINCIPLE: All people who bring beauty or love into the world: painters, sculptors, actors, authors, musicians, designers, cosmeticians, architects, and loving people, including those who work in the area of the fine or dubious entertainments.

PHYSICAL CORRELATIONS: Sense of equilibrium, mucous membranes, veins, kidneys, inner sex organs, sweat glands, and erogenous zones.

MYTHOLOGICAL CORRELATIONS: Aphrodite (Greek) or Venus (Roman)—the goddess of love, beauty and peace, also of art and harmony.

VENUS IN THE SIGNS

See pages 68 to 73.

In addition to the STRENGTH and the PROBLEM AREA is the IMAGE OF THE YOUNG WOMAN, which Venus embodies. In a feminine horoscope, this describes an essential part of the self-image, whereas Venus in the masculine horoscope symbolizes the anima and thereby the central aspect of his inner femininity and his searching image in partnerships. Venus' typical sensitivity for taste and style are expressed in the related section of STYLE OF ART and the coloration of its erotic tension is found in the section EROTICISM.

Mars

DIGNITY:	DETRIMENT:	EXALTATION:	FALL:
♈ and ♏	♉ and ♎	♑	♋

Orbits through the entire zodiac in 687 days.
Stays an average of about 2 months in each sign.

ARCHETYPE: The hero and conqueror.	SHADOW: The violent person, the destroyer.

PRINCIPLE: Mars represents strength of will and the desire of an individual to conquer. It stands for stamina, the perseverance and energy that you need to fight the obstacles in life and penetrate the world. Mars shows straightforwardness of approach, a high degree of determination, readiness to take on conflict, and enjoyment of risk. In every conflict Mars embodies the energy you fight with and how you fight. It represents aggression, problems of aggression, as well as drive, urge, and passion. Together with the Sun, Mars symbolizes the masculine principle in the horoscope, with Mars embodying the youthful aspect, the lover, and the hothead.

STRENGTHS: The resolute individual. Strong, goal-oriented action with great staying power. Imposing willpower, great commitment, and considerable willingness to take risks (while keeping a level head!). The force of aggression finds an appropriate goal which it can conquer, simultaneously discharging itself and spontaneously developing in committed, courageous, decisive, passionate, or persevering ways. Powerful, but controllable drives. Lusty, satisfying sexuality.

PROBLEM AREA: The brute. Spontaneous, completely uncontrollable discharge of energy or pent-up aggressions with unpredictable outbursts.

Impatient, hot-headed, brutal, unrestrained, sadistic, distracted by vague drives. The force of aggression spreads out destructively, and not infrequently, self-destructively. Frustrated, extreme, violent, and totally dissatisfying sexuality.

GOAL: The goal of Mars' power is the actualization of your essential nature, to further your development and accomplishments, and also to protect and safeguard you from the attacks of others. Mars is the fighting strength with which you stand up for yourself, which helps you win, to get what is yours by right and to keep it, or to be the first. The goal of Mars is also sexual satisfaction. Problematic goals, which Mars can also lead to, concern violent wrongs, such as robbery and murder, revenge campaigns, wars and war crimes, and all situations in which the bare "might" of those who are stronger triumphs.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE MARS PRINCIPLE: All pioneers, conquerors, warriors, daring entrepreneurs, leaders, adventurers, soldiers, athletes, and other competitors. Everyone who uses knives, from butchers to knife-throwers to surgeons. But, also those who destroy blindly, fanatics, egotists, and tyrants along with their torturers.

PHYSICAL CORRELATIONS: Muscles, gallbladder, blood, red blood cells, the body's heat regulation system, male sexual organs.

MYTHOLOGICAL CORRELATIONS: Aries (Greek)/Mars (Roman)—the god of war, whom the Greeks considered a brute and was therefore unloved and disfavored, but raised to the status of a god of state by the Romans.

MARS IN THE SIGNS

See pages 74 to 86.

In addition to the STRENGTH and PROBLEM AREA specific to the sign, the IMAGE OF THE YOUNG MAN is to be found here.

In a man's horoscope, this describes an essential part of his self-image, whereas in the feminine horoscope it symbolizes the central aspect of the animus, the inner masculinity, and the woman's searching image.

The energy with which Mars carries out its decisions and plans is found under RESOLUTION. Its combative attitude is shown by the sections AGGRESSION, OUTLETS FOR AGGRESSION, and WAY OF FIGHTING, whereby the strength and form of expression of the respective Mars energy is listed under SEXUALITY.

Jupiter

DIGNITY:	DETRIMENT:	EXALTATION:	FALL:
♐ and ♓	♊ and ♍	♋	♑

Orbits through the entire zodiac in around 12 years.
Stays an average of about one year in each sign.

ARCHETYPE: The high priest, the missionary, the just person.	SHADOW: The Pharisee, complacent person, the self-righteous individual.

PRINCIPLE: Jupiter represents trust in life, the belief in life's meaning, the ideals and values ol a person, and the search and discovery of personal meaning in life. It also stands lor the forces of growth which give life its impetus, promotes thriving, good fortune, and prosperity, and especially benefits the development of the personality and broadening of individual horizons. A person experiences everything Jupiter touches as being rich. Jupiter also means dignity, wisdom, belief, hope, morals, grace, convictions, confidence, trust, affluence, wealth, and growth, success, future, optimism, generosity, expansion, justice, reverence, goodness, goodwill, and abundance.

STRENGTH: The dignified person. Highly developed sense of morality and ethics, as well as strong inner belief and great trust in yourself and in life. Generosity, sense of responsibility, justice, goodness, compassion, reverence, and willingness to forgive. The talent to understand meaning and connection in a global or higher sense. Jupiter also stands for individual luck, in that everything it touches in a person's horoscope is experienced full of trust and certainty of success.

PROBLEM AREA: The degenerate. Overestimates his or her own personality. Unscrupulous, high-handed, vain, power-hungry, addicted to pleasure, lazy, and self-satisfied. The otherwise benevolent Jupiter becomes unpleasantly exaggerated or purely superficial in an attitude of hypocrisy, fanaticism, self-aggrandizement, degenerating in terms of body, emotions, and character.

The tendency to smugly overstep laws, have both extravagant expectations and standards in life, as well as feigned generosity and intolerance is manifested.

GOAL: Aspires to truth, higher understanding and global, commonly binding principles and values. The search for the personal God. The fulfillment of meaning and experience of being carried through life by meaning. Fortune and fulfillment.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE JUPITER PRINCIPLE: Exemplary and/or cultivated personalities. Teachers, educators, priests, prophets, philosophers, poets, scholars, legal experts, judges, athletes, doctors, alternative health practitioners, healers, adventurers, world travelers, and patrons of arts and other worthy causes.

See pages 86 to 91.

In addition to the STRENGTH and PROBLEM AREA specific to this sign, there is the IDEAL toward which Jupiter aspires, as well as the RELIGION or PHILOSOPHY to which Jupiter's position most often corresponds. The explanations given emphasize the characteristic feature of religion or philosophy as classified by Jupiter.

Saturn

DIGNITY:	DETRIMENT:	EXALTATION:	FALL:
♑ and ♒	♋ and ♌	♎	♈

Orbits through the entire zodiac in 29 years.
Stays an average of about two years in each sign.

ARCHETYPE: The old, wise man, the hermit.	SHADOW: The embittered person, the adversary.

PRINCIPLE: Saturn represents structure, steadfastness, and limitation. It therefore means security, stability, stamina, and consistency. Saturn also represents the ability of a person to set boundaries, but also the boundaries you experience as unpleasant, those which do not let you reach what you desire. Saturn is the ruler of time, who sees to it that everything comes to an end at some point. As a result, Saturn symbolizes separations and farewells. As ruler of "the great silence," it also represents seclusion, which can be experienced as being painfully abandoned or as inner composure in stillness. Furthermore, Saturn means conscience, form, structure, compression, concentration, crystallization, obligation, deceleration, justice, law and order.

STRENGTH: The humble individual. Authentic humility, genuine modesty. The power to be true to oneself and the willingness to face the most difficult jobs. Greatly developed ambition combined with immense endurance. Takes duties unusually seriously. Extremely disciplined, achievement-oriented, and dependable. Mature contentment. Aspires toward material security and public recognition. Sets rules and boundaries, creates clear structures, imposes and monitors laws, takes care of order and safety. Willing to take on responsibility. Conscientiousness, patience, wisdom, dependability, consistency, and content modesty.

PROBLEM AREA: The hard-hearted person. Afraid to live, most of all afraid to fail, to not be good enough or lovable enough. Conflicts with authority. Determined hardness, obstinate inflexibility, dark ambition, and a cold need for admiration. Strangles all living impulses with the danger of losing oneself in depression, melancholy, bitter negation of life, or self-destructive drudgery. Compulsiveness to achieve, rigidity, inferiority complex, ingratiating subservience, shabbiness, lack of success, embitterment, and loneliness. Wasted, suppressed emotional life, and rigid behavior. Complete deficit of human warmth and sincerity as well as the playful elements in life. Inhibited, constrained, awkward, cruel, evil, cold, narrow-minded, stubborn, reticent, irreconcilable, and relentless.

GOAL: Development of the autonomous personality and a steadfast character through the actualization of existing capabilities and your true calling. Increase of experience and wisdom in life. Clarity, self-control, and self-restraint. Recognition of the unvarnished truth, naked reality, and concentration on what is most essential.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE SATURN PRINCIPLE: Philosophers, wise men and wise women, hermits, monks and nuns, elderly people, ancestors. Lawmakers and keepers of the law, judges, critics, bosses, gray eminences, mentors, sculptors, architects, and builders.

PHYSICAL CORRELATIONS: Skeleton, bone marrow, calcium balance, teeth, structural and connective tissue, spleen, ears.

MYTHOLOGICAL CORRELATIONS: Cronus (Greek)/Saturn (Roman)—the god who rebelled against his father Uranus, but also ate his own children. Ruler of time and keeper of threshold between life and death, between time and eternity. Also the ruler of Elysium, the island of the blessed, and the ruler of the Golden Age.

SATURN IN THE SIGNS

See pages 92 to 97.

In its most difficult form, Saturn means a block opposing the typical qualities of the prevailing sign, which are listed under PROHIBITION OR DISDAIN OF. The corresponding fear is under the heading of THRESHOLD. Experience shows that Saturn, on its way toward freedom, turns to compulsive behavior, somewhat in opposition to its original bans, and more or less lives as if it were a compulsion. This phase is described in the section COMPULSION, while the behavior of a liberated and transformed Saturn is portrayed in the section on LIBERATION.

Uranus

DIGNITY:	DETRIMENT:	EXALTATION:	FALL:
♒	♌	♏	♉

Discovered on March 13, 1781 by Friedrich Wilhelm Herschel.
Orbits through the entire zodiac in around 84 years.
Stays an average of about 7 years in each sign.

ARCHETYPE: The (wise) fool, the hero of freedom.	SHADOW: The revolutionary, the traitor.

PRINCIPLE: Uranus represents the ideals of the French Revolution—freedom, equality, and brotherhood. It embodies what is ingenious in human beings, their striving for independence and individual freedom. Uranus is also considered to be the great liberator. It stands for surprising changes, flashes of inspiration, and sudden upheavals.

STRENGTH: The individualist. Striving for independence and freedom on all levels (mental, emotional, and material). Split-second perceptions, spontaneous solutions, and the spirit of discovery. Intuitive perceptions at the right moment. Urge toward cosmic consciousness and expansion of consciousness. Original, unconventional, enjoyment of experimentation. The gift of the "seventh sense."

PROBLEM AREA: The person who changes viewpoints. Restless and constantly "charged up." Unsettled and always searching for something new, for change, revolution, and subversion. Arbitrary, unpredictable, inconsiderate, destructive, and extremely willful. Compulsive aversion to everything obligatory. Freedom at any cost, which frequently causes a breach of contract to be committed so that others feel betrayed. Unwilling or incapable of being concerned with the "banal" problems of everyday life.

GOAL: Realization of democracy, freedom, and human rights. Overcoming old structures, attitudes, ideas, and opinions on an individual and collective level. Liberation from old ties. Disintegration of all bonds.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE URANUS PRINCIPLE: Inventors, technicians, pilots, artists, revolutionaries, anarchists, astrologers, futurists, mental acrobats, yogis with double consciousness (for this world and other worlds), eccentrics, philosophers, and recluses.

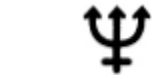

PHYSICAL CORRELATIONS: Nervous system, tension and discharging of tension, rhythm.

MYTHOLOGICAL CORRELATIONS: Ouranous (Greek)/Uranus (Roman)—lord of the heavens, son of chaos, husband of Gaea (Earth), and father of Cronus. Original ruler. Symbol of mental fertility, creative ideas, and the lofty standpoint.

URANUS IN THE SIGNS

See pages 98 to 99.

Uranus orbits through the zodiac in 84 years, which means an average of seven years in each sign. Its position in the sign of the horoscope therefore primarily makes a statement about the generation born within this time period. The individual coloration that Uranus gives a horoscope can only be read from its position by house and from its aspects to the personal planets. Since Uranus is always a fervent advocate of individual freedoms, the values relating to freedom that arise for a generation under the respective position of Uranus, together with their problematic opposite pole, are listed in the table as both STRENGTH and PROBLEM AREA.

Neptune

DIGNITY:	DETRIMENT:	EXALTATION:	FALL:
♓	♍	♋	♑

Discovered on September 23, 1846 by Johann Gottfried Galle.
Orbits through the entire zodiac in 156 years.
Stays an average of about 14 years in each sign.

ARCHETYPE: The mystic, the visionary, the martyr.	SHADOW: The crackpot, the addict, the alcoholic.

PRINCIPLE: Neptune represents the principle of dissolving boundaries. It corresponds to a person's "cosmic antennas" which permit one to feel the transcendental and the subtle. It allows one to sense concealed correlations, future trends, and other developments. At the same time, Neptune stands for the individual's longing to overcome everyday consciousness and see the highest things. In the process, Neptune's striving is actually directed toward the spiritual realm, but is frequently confused with spirits and other intoxicants. The permeability to which Neptune gives rise frequently results in one ol the highest levels of sensitivity and a weakening of the body.

STRENGTH: The medium. Strong spiritual aspirations. Deep inner conviction, often based on personal experience, that a divine power is at work in everything and should be recognized as such. Great receptivity and sensibility. Compassionate behavior, characterized by almost boundless sympathy. Idealistic, soft, able to be devoted, and mediumistic. Strong desire for mystic experience. Full of faith in being protected and guided by a higher power. Strong visionary abilities, excellent intuitive understanding, and an unusual wealth of emotional images and imagination.

PROBLEM AREA: The drunk or drug addict. Drawn in a dangerous direction by a strong—frequently unrecognized or underestimated—inner force. Easily seducible and endangered by addiction, particularly to intoxicants. Also in danger of being overcome and swept away by collective currents, ranging from less harmful trends of the period to the violent excesses of mass hysteria. Falls easily into the role of the victim and the person who suffers, as well as that of the seducer, charlatan, schemer, or liar. Unstable, intangible, unpredictable, destructive, and slimy. Great difficulties in setting limits, up to the point of total identification with other people. Incapable of assuming responsibility for one's own life. Letting oneself drift without any solid ground to stand on. Desperation, melancholy, confusion, self-deception, and lack of orientation.

GOAL: The striving to go beyond the limits of the self and merge into a "we" feeling. The longing to be found, touched, and redeemed in trance and ecstasy by the divine. To find true spirituality and be a living witness of the divine effect in the world.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE NEPTUNE PRINCIPLE: Inspired artists, talented actors and actresses, musicians, poets, priests and priestesses, preachers, mystics, occultists, chemists, nurses, doctors (particularly homeopaths), psychologists, trend researchers, forecasters, as well as addicts, the down-at-the-heels, the unstable, swindlers, and criminals.

PHYSICAL CORRELATIONS: The pineal gland.

MYTHOLOGICAL CORRELATIONS: Poseidon (Greek)/Neptune (Roman)—god of the seas, earthquakes, and fertility.

NEPTUNE IN THE SIGNS

See pages 100 to 101.

Neptune orbits through the zodiac in 165 years and therefore stays an average of about 14 years in each sign. Its position in the sign of the horoscope therefore primarily makes a statement about the generation born within this time period. The individual coloration that Neptune gives a horoscope can only be read from its position in a house and from its aspects to the personal planets. Since Neptune always represents

DISSOLUTION, dream, vision, and IDEALIZATION for a generation under the respective position of Neptune, this is listed together with its problematic side of LACK OF DISCIPLINE and WEAKENING in the table under Neptune.

Pluto

DIGNITY:	DETRIMENT:	EXALTATION:	FALL:
♏	♉	♌	♒

Discovered by Percival Lowell on February 18, 1930.
Orbits through the entire zodiac in about 248 years.
Stays an average of around 21 years in each sign.
Because of its very unusual orbit, the length of its stay in a sign fluctuates between 11 and 30 years.

ARCHETYPE: The magician, the shaman.	SHADOW: The black magician.

PRINCIPLE: The power of deepest transformation. Pluto represents the black gold of the alchemist, the dark wealth of the depths, the archaic original source, and the archetypal forces beyond all moral valuation. Pluto embodies the archaic feminine element that can be both fruitful, creative, and healing, as well as dark, cruel, brutal, sadistic, destructive, devouring, and lethal. The solar consciousness fears it as an abyss of Hell. Experiences with Pluto are always related to power and helplessness, dependency, subjection, and emotional entanglement. They sometimes also include an aspect of obsession. Pluto, the smallest and most distant planet, has its effect according to the principle of homeopathy: the smaller and less comprehensible the dosage, the stronger its effect.

STRENGTH: The powerful person. Mighty forces of the soul such as the powers of suggestion, hypnotic capabilities, and strong healing forces. Tremendously creative potency, intensive strength, and an almost insuperable will. Drive for far-reaching changes in oneself and others. Does not shy away from the deepest abysses. Overcoming and fundamental transforming of old values and structures.

PROBLEM AREA: The obsessed individual. Misuse of power. Inclination toward sadism and tyranny. Unconscious forces (autonomous complexes) that possess the conscious mind. Compulsive and obsessive character, destructive, uninhibited, dominated by instincts, fanatic, destructive for oneself and others. Pathological addiction to control. The inability to simply let things be, let go of people and things, and gain distance to the situation.

GOAL: Radical transformation in favor of a deep truth. The perception that nothing in life can stay as it is, that every beginning, every birth already bears its own end and rebirth within itself.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE PLUTO PRINCIPLE: Analysts, doctors, researchers, dictators, scientists, speculators, violent criminals, charismatic leaders, demagogues, leaders of mass movements, hypnotists, and occultists.

PHYSICAL CORRELATIONS: Sexual organs, ability to regenerate.

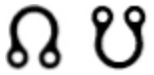

MYTHOLOGICAL CORRELATIONS: Hades (Greek = the invisible)/Pluto or Dis-Pater (Roman = the rich man)—god of the underworld. Son of Cronus and Rhea, brother of Zeus and Poseidon, and husband of the (abducted) Persephone. Symbol for the realm of the shadow, the knowledge from the depths, and the experience of death and rebirth.

PLUTO IN THE SIGNS

See pages 102 to 103.

Pluto orbits through the zodiac in 248 years and thereby stays an average of 21 years in each sign. Its position in the sign of the horoscope therefore primarily makes a statement about the generation born within this time period. The true individual coloration that Pluto gives a horoscope can only be read from its position by house and from its aspects to the personal planets. Since PLUTO always stands for TRANSFORMATION, which means extensive changes in favor of a deeper truth, as well as EXPERIENCES OF POWER AND HELPLESSNESS (for culprit and victim), the themes specific to a sign that are significant to a generation under the respective position of Pluto, are listed in the table.

Moon's Nodes

The Moon is located in part to the south and in part to the north of the Sun's orbit. Moon's Nodes is the name given to the interface of its orbit with that of the Sun. If the Moon comes from the south, it is called the Ascending Moon's Node, North Node, or Dragon's Head ☊. If it comes from the north, it is called a Descending Moon's Node, South Node, or Dragon's Tail ☋. Both points are opposite each other: an aspect to one of the Moon's Nodes automatically means an aspect to the other.

The astrological meaning of this Moon's Node axis is the crucial point in a person's life. It shows the tasks to be mastered and the purpose of existence. The South Node symbolizes the past—old patterns and ways of behaving that the soul of an individual has already brought along with it. Karmic astrology speaks of past lives here. In contrast, the North Node points to the future. It shows the direction to be pursued and symbolizes the tasks waiting to be resolved.

It is essential to meaningfully connect both themes of the Moon's Nodes, for the Descending Node tends to obstruct development and functions as a brake; in contrast, the Ascending Node indicates the challenging new direction. Aspects between the Moon's Nodes and the planets provide further information about supportive or inhibitive powers.

This means that nodal axis provides an initial, direct insight into the tasks presented in the horoscope, even though these themes are usually expressed elsewhere in the chart. However, the information given in the Moon's nodal position reduces the horoscope to a common denominator, reflecting the issue at hand—the quintessence.

MOON'S NODE IN THE SIGNS

The meaning of the Nodes is expressed primarily by house position rather than the sign involved. The individual meaning of the Moon's Node axis must therefore be looked up under the corresponding house. An impression of the themes addressed by the position in the sign will be provided by checking the significance of the house as it relates to the sign (Aries = 1st house, Taurus = 2nd house, Pisces = 12th house, etc.).

MYTHOLOGICAL MOTIFS: Helle and Phrixus. The quest for the Golden Fleece.

CENTRAL THOUGHT: Aries is the awakening of the forces. The central concern of this sign is the development of the ego, asserting one's own will, and conquering the world. Aries represents the archetypal masculine force which acts in an impetuous, strong-willed, and impulsive manner. It is characterized by activity, initiative, impatience, and rushing forward without becoming weary. Aries quickly recovers from low blows. The Aries person is considered indefatigable and daring. The Aries type is a pioneer with a warm, carefree openness which often has something sympathetically boyish (or girlish) about it, even when he or she is older. A contagious, untroubled optimism and vigorous joy of living can also give other people the momentum and courage to face life.

Actions

STRENGTH: The energetic individual. Spontaneous, impulsive, and sometimes quite the go-getter. Uncomplicated, direct, spirited, and lighthearted. Very dynamic, but never long-winded. Spontaneously switches from one goal to another. Never has the feeling of disgracing himself or herself.

PROBLEM AREA: The impatient person. Wants everything right away. Thoughtlessly rushes into plans without any sign of patience or stamina. Hurts others through inconsideration, often because of thoughtlessness. Primitive daredevil.

Thoughts

STRENGTH: The pioneer. Unburdened by other people's experiences, Aries goes his or her own way and finds surprising and unusual perceptions, methods, and solutions in the process. Open for new insights, even at a ripe old age. PROBLEM AREA: The headstrong individual Explains the world to himself or herself in the way that he or she would like to have it. Is not concerned about objective viewpoints or an explanation of his or her standpoint. Irresponsible because of immaturity. Stubborn and arbitrary.

EXAMPLES: Shepherds, protectors, and preservers.	GUIDING PRINCIPLE: I possess. I maintain! Or also: I wait.

MYTHOLOGICAL MOTIFS: The Minotaur. The abduction of Europa.

CENTRAL THOUGHT: Taurus is the sign of rootedness and the greatest degree of inertia. It is characterized by love and loyalty to what is familiar, taking care of what has grown and been tested by time, as well as the patience with which the Taurus can integrate himself or herself into the natural growth cycles. Taurus can wait—longer than any of the other signs. Solely because of this ability, Taurus is able to achieve certain things. Taurus loves to stand on solid ground and defends self against surprising innovations and incalculable risks (particularly those which are financial). The enjoyment of the pleasures of life achieves its highest level of development in this sign and makes the Taurus into a thankful connoisseur.

Actions

STRENGTH: The person of action. Practical, down-to-earth, decisive, and persevering. Taurus is slow to warm up to things, but then emphatically stays with them and accomplishes something. Likes to work with other people.

PROBLEM AREA: The loafer Lethargic, lazy, recklessly self-indulgent, gluttonous, a slave to the instincts, unreliable. Patient and sullen tolerance can lead to apathy. One-sided material striving.

Thoughts

STRENGTH: The pragmatic person. Thinking is concrete and practice-oriented. Is not fond of theoretic flights of fancy or a confusing variety of ideas. When considering a situation, always asks the question: What can you do with it?

PROBLEM AREA: The slow-witted individual. One-sided, unteachably stubborn, and sometimes very slow as well. Sticks to reality and has difficulty with abstractions.

The Curious Person

♊ Gemini (the Twins)

PHYSICAL CORRELATIONS: Lungs, bronchial tubes, collarbone, arms and hands.	CORRELATION TO SEASONS: The time when sprouts divide themselves into stem, leaf, and bud, differentiating themselves from other shoots.
ARCHETYPE: Trader or intellectual.	SHADOW: The cynic.

CENTRAL THOUGHT: Gemini is the sign of versatility. Gemini people love to perceive what is only apparently homogeneous in all of its facets. As intellectually-oriented people, it is a great joy for them to see things in a very differentiated manner, particularly on the mental level. This makes them masters in the revelation of differences, but also relativists and doubters who must even question the sublime and the holy without restraint. They are characterized by the desire to take up new thoughts and ideas and pass them on, making them good traders and agents. This primarily applies to news, but naturally also for goods with a quick turnover.

Actions

STRENGTH: The clever mind. Deliberate, well-planned, methodical actions subject to rational approaches on the basis of clear perceptions and critically examined concepts without significant emotional participation. Smart, quick, and clever.

PROBLEM AREA: The fickle person. Begins much and finishes nothing. Must be constantly occupied, but continually dissipates strength. Lacks in depth.

Thoughts

TYPICAL OCCUPATIONAL AREAS: Agent: particularly stockbrokers, real estate agents, or sales representatives. Commercial professions, above all in connection with communication: publisher and book dealer, writer, positions in trade and commerce, correspondent, interpreter, journalist, reporter, teacher. CENTRAL THOUGHT: Cancers are the romantics of the zodiac. They have access to the images of the soul, which they experience in dreams and express in new forms time and again. Cancers protect themselves against their own fearfulness by gathering people around like a protective shield, binding people closely through help and solicitude. The domain of Cancer is the family, which offers true safety and security. If it were not for their enormous ambitions, they would never leave this protective area. Enduring attachment to homeland, family, and childhood, intensive yearnings, and a capacity for deep emotions allow truly loving people to develop from this sign.

Actions

STRENGTH: The indirect person; one willing to help. Instinctive reactions based on unconscious impulses, feeling (sympathy), and ambition. Develops great tenacity. Never takes a straight path, but reaches goals indirectly. Social-minded, tender, and prepared to help or protect another person at any time.

PROBLEM AREA: The childlike individual. Apparently selfless actions based on the fear of otherwise being abandoned. Shy, faint-hearted, fearful, and hardly willing to change things. Fears conflicts. Flight into a dream world, depression, or exaggerated ambition. Regression into childlike behavior.

PROBLEM AREA: The overly devoted person, the blackmailer. Possessive. Clings to the beloved, whom he or she stifles with solicitude and misuses as a personal support. Superimposes moods on the surroundings. "Guilt-feeling politics." Tears as means to an end. "Tyranny of the weak." Emotional egotism.

TYPICAL OCCUPATIONAL AREAS: All helping, caring, and socially committed occupations, particularly doctors, medical and geriatric nurses, kindergarten teachers, psychologists, occupations in the artistic area such as acting, poetry, music, writing, literature, and art history. Positions in area of family, groups, and homeland, such as the preservation of regional traditions, local politics, gastronomy, society and club work.

RULER: ☉	EXALTATION: ♆	DETRIMENT: ♄
FALL: —	ELEMENT: Fire	QUALITY: Fixed
CHARACTERISTIC: Warm and dry	SEX: Masculine	TEMPERAMENT: Choleric (quick-tempered)

SYMBOL: ♌ = the snake, an ancient sign of the sun and its course, symbol of life as it constantly renews itself and of eternity.

PHYSICAL CORRELATIONS: Heart, circulatory system, spinal column.	CORRELATION TO SEASONS: The splendor of completely ripened fruit.

EXAMPLES: The truly great rulers and leaders.	GUIDING PRINCIPLE: I create. I came, I saw, I conquered.

MYTHOLOGICAL MOTIFS: Hercules and the Nemean Lion. All the sagas of Sun heros and Sun gods.

CENTRAL THOUGHT: Life stands in its fullest blossom and finds its most magnificent development in the sign of Leo. This is expressed in the Leo person's distinct self-confidence and rousing joy of life. The true kings, for whom the Earth has produced gold, diamonds, purple robes, and silk, are at home here. Luxury has been created for them, and they know how to enjoy it with the proper attitude. Leos are masters of the generous gesture and expressive design. They know how to create the best effects. They have an extraordinary understanding of how to plan and organize on a large scale. They love to sun themselves in the light of their own generosity.

Actions

STRENGTH: The organizer. Calm, self-reliant, optimistic, and decisive actions. Constantly plans and risks the "great success" because they are uncomfortable with small steps. Life is considered to be a stage for showmanship. The distinct self-confidence also encourages and motivates other people. Leos are frequently self-made people and masters of organization.

PROBLEM AREA: The high and mighty. Complacent, ego-related behavior, narcissistic, vain, and megalomaniac. Others are reduced to the role of admirers. Too good for trivial everyday affairs.

Thoughts

STRENGTH: The careerist. Intuitively comprehends and evaluates things with an overall perspective. Creative intelligence. Strong convictions, self-confidence, and a vital optimism color his or her way of thinking.

PROBLEM AREA: The condescending person. Completely undifferentiated thinking in the form of clichés. No interest in objective perceptions. Superficial and overbearing, without a sense of subtlety. Hates criticism and has no idea what self-criticism is.

Feelings

STRENGTH: The zestful individual. Hearty, benevolent, humorous, and always generous. Passionate and cheerful. Loves feeling self-important.

PROBLEM AREA: The boaster. Dependent on constant admiration and confirmation from others. Embarrassing "lord and master" behavior. Only short-lived passions. Feelings are vulgarized, and emotional sympathy reduced to a minimum. Love is only possible as a narcissistic reflection.

TYPICAL OCCUPATIONAL AREAS: Leadership tasks that emphasize prestige and demand self-confidence and initiative: the manager, organizer, representative, politician, senior physician, wholesale merchant, officer, director, and actor. Careers devoted to luxury: gold, jewelry, and art trades, interior decoration, textile branch, and cosmetics.

The Thorough Person

♍ Virgo (the Virgin)

From August 23rd to September 22nd

RULER: ☿	EXALTATION: ☿	DETRIMENT: ♃
FALL: ♀	ELEMENT: Earth	QUALITY: Mutable
CHARACTERISTIC: Cold and dry	SEX: Feminine	TEMPERAMENT: Melancholic

SYMBOL: ♍ = the m is interpreted as the analogy to a death rune (corresponds to harvest time).

PHYSICAL CORRELATIONS: Intestinal tract, metabolism, solar plexus.	CORRELATION TO SEASONS: The time of harvest.
ARCHETYPE: The person who harvests, the craftsman.	SHADOW: The Philistine, the pedant, the misanthropist.
MOTIVATION: Joy in details.	STRIVES FOR: Purity and health.
TASK IN LIFE: Critically examining everything for its suitability.	PITFALL: Perfectionism.
EXAMPLES: The master; the sober-minded, critical scientist.	GUIDING PRINCIPLE: I take it literally. Or: I examine.

MYTHOLOGICAL MOTIFS: Astraeus, the goddess of justice who left the Earth and became the constellation Virgo. The myth of Demeter.

CENTRAL THOUGHT: The sign Virgo corresponds to the harvest in which the chaff is separated from the wheat. No other sign has such strong instincts when it comes to differentiating between what is healthy and unhealthy, useful and pointless, valuable and damaging. Since Virgo people like to place this ability at the service of humanity, they prefer to take on tasks in which they can care for and protect an organism. They do this for the human organism in the role of doctor, for the business world as business economists, and for the nation as political economists. The love of detail contrasts to timidity when it comes to "great success." Virgos are cut out to be the "second man or woman" leaving entrepreneurial risks to others, while putting more effort into looking after the computations, detail planning, and practical matters.

Actions

STRENGTH: The economist. Always concerned with what is optimum: achieving the greatest possible use with the minimum amount of (work) effort. Orderly, diligent, thorough, and reliable. The Virgo person is considered extremely orderly, but this is not always true. Seen in more precise terms, he or she fights against chaos. One individual may be more successful at this, the other less.

PROBLEM AREA: The fussy person. Mistrustful, pedantic, and one-sided in an orientation toward practicality. Cleaning mania, exaggerated striving for security, and fearful thriftiness. Nerve-racking perfectionism.

Thoughts

STRENGTH: The scientist. Clever, critical approach that looks toward the future and is oriented toward sober, measurable, and verifiable results. Objective, pragmatic, down-to-earth, shrewd, but also flexible attitude.

PROBLEM AREA: The narrow-minded thinker. Fanatic for security. Narrow-minded and obsessed with details. A compulsive slave to rationality and dogged faith in science because of fear of what cannot be explained. Only believes in what can be "proved."

Feelings

STRENGTH: The cautious person. Careful, reserved, almost demure, chaste, and pure. Slowly warms up to things only after a detailed critical examination. Then is reliable, faithfully caring, and very willing to help.

PROBLEM AREA: The inhibited individual. Critical, cool, and inhibited. Love and the ability to be devoted are subject to considerations of practicality. Only falls in love when everything is "just right." Tends to find faults, be resigned, envious, and bitter.

TYPICAL OCCUPATIONAL AREAS: Areas in which the chaff is critically separated from the wheat: as a critic or economist. Also, jobs in which the love of detail has a primary position such as bookkeeping, editing, data processing, but also the medical profession—particularly dentists. Occupations in which a practical mind (technology, crafts) or manual skills are required (from precision mechanic to massage therapist). Also, teachers, specialists, and sober-minded (natural) scientists. Prefers to work as a salaried employee.

The Artist

♎ Libra (the Scales)

RULER: ♀	EXALTATION: ♄	DETRIMENT: ♂
FALL: ☉	ELEMENT: Air	QUALITY: Cardinal

TASK IN LIFE: Bringing beauty into the world.	PITFALL: Beautiful hollowness, esthetic superficiality.
EXAMPLES: The great artists, esthetics, and people who have attained their perfect form.	GUIDING PRINCIPLE: I weigh. Or: I balance.

MYTHOLOGICAL MOTIFS: Cupid and Psyche. The Judgment of Paris.

CENTRAL THOUGHT: Libra is the sign of harmony. Its main concern is creating harmony, maintaining it, and enjoying it. This applies to the harmony of forms in architecture, art, and design, as well as to forms of social manners, particularly the harmony in close interpersonal relationships like friendship, marriage, and partnership. This makes it the sign of the artist, the aesthetic, as well as the mediator and peacemaker. It is a pleasure for Librans to let life become graceful beyond all the dry necessities to bring joy to the senses through beauty, harmony, and good taste. Despite all the relating to other people, Libra people still do not want to be monopolized. Instead, they love the feeling of freedom. In the search for decisions that least disturb harmony (which means not hurting or doing injustice to anyone, if possible), Librans need considerably more time than other signs, which explains their famous weakness in making decisions.

Actions

STRENGTH: The person who balances. A creative and impulse-giving way of functioning, always with style and concern not to rub anyone the wrong way. Tactful, enterprising, good-natured, tolerant, and sociable.

PROBLEM AREA: The half-hearted individual. Notorious difficulties in making decisions, unable to engage in conflict, and therefore dependent on the surrounding world and people's sympathy. Puts on act of pseudo-superiority. Starry-eyed and unrealistic.

Thoughts

STRENGTH: The highbrow. Graphic way of thinking, influenced by form and harmony. Clever strategist in questions of an equilibrium of energies. Very good style in manner of expressing thoughts. Open for innovations. Enjoys communication.

PROBLEM AREA: The fickle person. Indecisive, susceptible, superficial, suppresses unpleasant insights. Sometimes calculating and very cunning.

Feelings

STRENGTH: The peacemaker. Enjoys contacts, easily willing to compromise, compensatory. Always oriented toward the other person, but at the same time concerned about freedom and inner independence.

PROBLEM AREA: The uncommitted individual. Because of fearing the highs and lows of life, piteously fixated on the uncommitted happy medium. Greedily demands sympathy from others, is moody and capricious. Suppresses feelings. Telltale craving for compromise because of pathological need to avoid conflict.

TYPICAL OCCUPATIONAL AREAS: All professions that bring beauty into the world such as art—especially music, dance, acting, fashion, photography, advertising, interior design, work with flowers, colors, luxury articles, cosmetics. Tasks in which cultivated style and sociability can be expressed: representatives, solicitors, diplomats, entertainers, and mediators. The entire legal field is represented here with the task of mediating peace, producing compromises, and representing the just cause.

The Gray Eminence

FALL: ☽	ELEMENT: Water	QUALITY: Fixed
CHARACTERISTIC: Cold and moist	SEX: Feminine	TEMPERAMENT: Phlegmatic (lethargic)

EXAMPLES: All the gray eminences, alchemists (Faust).	GUIDING PRINCIPLE: I probe. Or: I desire.

MYTHOLOGICAL MOTIFS: Orion's death. Gilgamesh and the scorpion people.

CENTRAL THOUGHT: Scorpio is the sign of depth and the extremes. Nothing interests the Scorpio less than what is superficial and mediocre. Scorpio's world is cryptic. Scorpio is the Faustian human being, irresistibly drawn by the urge to explore everything that is concealed, secretive, suppressed, to the taboos that a society produces. The spectrum of feelings contains only extremes, like love and hate. Scorpio is a stranger to medium tones. Scorpio possesses immense powers of the soul that can be used for the benefit of others. Scorpio can be a healer and a helper, but can also use this ability to make other people dependent, or can even destroy others. This makes a responsible manner of dealing with power the explosive theme of this sign.

Actions

STRENGTH: The uncompromising person, the breaker of taboos. Scorpio does not enter into lazy compromises, and can be an example and leading figure for others. Places a finger mercilessly and with a sure instinct on the sore spots of others and can thereby initiate a healing process. Tough, tenacious, strong-willed, provocative, and often uncomfortable for others.

PROBLEM AREA: The destroyer. All actions serve the intensification of personal power. Tyrannical, destructive, and self-destructive.

Thoughts

STRENGTH: The detective. The urge to reveal secrets and courage to also venture into dangerous areas in the process. Profound and analytic. Sharp-witted and unyielding in the quest for the last truth. Is certain to talk about what everyone else would like to keep silent about.

PROBLEM AREA: The pigheaded person. Cynical, fanatic, dogmatic, and stubborn. Strongest powers of wishful thinking, which easily become fixated on one idea.

Feelings

STRENGTH: The powerful individual. Enormous emotional strengths and wishful powers that can be compelling for others. Intensive, inscrutable, passionate, and lustful feelings. Strong sexuality. Access to dark, archaic powers of the soul.

PROBLEM AREA: The vampire. Giving in to the temptations of one's own power. Sucking other people dry emotionally and keeping them in subjection and dependence. Pathologically jealous and envious, vindictive, sadistic, and blindly destructive. Desperately at the mercy of the extremes of one's own emotions.

TYPICAL OCCUPATIONAL AREAS: Wherever the penetration and exploration of the unknown, the mysterious, and the concealed is concerned: explorers, investigators, detectives, cave-explorers; in espionage as well as psycho-analysis; x-ray technology, but also esoterics and secret teachings. The entire field of healing and therapy; professions treated as outcasts by society, such as garbage collection; tasks associated with death: companion to the dying, director of funeral home, executor of wills, and trustees in bankruptcy.

MYTHOLOGICAL MOTIFS: The wise centaur Chiron who taught Hercules.

CENTRAL THOUGHT: In the sign of Sagittarius, the issue is expanding the horizons of both the inner and outer worlds. This can be seen in the distinct fondness of travel, leading to encounters with distant cultures, as well as the endeavor to expand inner horizons thanks to these trips and continual improvement of one's knowledge. Above all, Sagittarius is driven to seek meaning. Deeply religious on the inside, aware that a higher purpose is concealed within all of Creation, it is the concern of this sign to find this meaning and proclaim it. Since the feeling for justice is strongly developed, Sagittarians strive for justice, guided by truly high values or by extreme prejudices and embarrassing slips into self-righteous priestly smugness.

Actions

STRENGTH: The self-motivated person. Great joy in achievement and movement, associated with an ability to be inspired and motivated. Aspires to leave narrow surroundings and strives for higher goals. Dignified, supremely confident, sophisticated. Acts on the basis of noble convictions, guided by respect, love, and reverence for humanity and Creation.

PROBLEM AREA: The arrogant individual. Big-mouthed dazzler and show-off. Incapable of setting limits or developing modesty and humbleness. Fearfully concerned with outward appearances. Can admit no weakness.

Thoughts

STRENGTH: The educated mind. Strives for higher education and broad horizons. Liberal mind. Inner convictions and acquired worldview subjectively color thinking. Tends to have magnificent plans and far-reaching goals.

PROBLEM AREA: The conceited thinker Moral arrogance, fanatic convictions, know-it-all, presumptuous infallibility, insincerity, hypocrisy, lies, sensitivity to criticism. Condescending talkativeness (the small-time philosopher).

Feelings

STRENGTH: The enthusiast. Flooded with and spurred on by high to holy feelings. Great ability to become enthusiastic. Doesn't want to disappoint anyone in any way, shape, or form. Need for freedom which also demands considerable elbow room in partnerships. Loves to work together with the partner on the realization of mutual goals and ideals.

PROBLEM AREA: The masked person. Fear of disgrace, particularly of being unmasked and exposed as simply a normal human being with all one's faults and weaknesses.

TYPICAL OCCUPATIONAL AREAS: Everything that deals with foreign countries, travel, and foreign trade, particularly in connection with representative assignments: diplomats, politicians, foreign correspondents, interpreters, exporters, tour operators and managers. People searching for meaning and guides in life like philosophers, theologians, spiritual advisors, and counselors. Judicial professions and the world of sports.

EXAMPLES: Old Testament father figures or the king as the first servant of his state.	GUIDING PRINCIPLE: I complete. I am responsible.

MYTHOLOGICAL MOTIFS: The goatfish, as well as Atlas, Christopher, and other great bearers of burdens.

CENTRAL THOUGHT: The true prime movers are at home in the sign of Capricorn. Here they work with patience and resilient persistence to dutifully fulfill the tasks that they have assumed and bring them to completion. This is less meant to enhance their own fame than to complete the work, behind which they then step into the background. Faithfulness, discipline, resolution, and a sense of duty are the essential characteristics of this sign, as well as supporting the inclination toward law and order, standards and structures.

Actions

STRENGTH: The individual who bears responsibility. Naturally assumes responsibility and does not let go until plans that have been set in motion are put into effect. Only tangible results count. Diligent, precise, persevering, dependable, sober, down-to-earth, indefatigable, energetic, and persistent.

PROBLEM AREA: The person who has no mercy on himself or herself Listless fulfillment of responsibilities, joyless drudgery, addicted to work and responsibility, permanent pressure to perform, dread of innovation, and fears of competition. Rigid clinging to old time-tested patterns and structures. Unsociable, restless, gruff, unfair, and stingy.

Thoughts

STRENGTH: The clear mind. Clear, precise evaluation of effort, expenditure, and yield. Immediately recognizes what is feasible and what is not. Practical and healthy common sense. Sensible, profound, and extremely concentrated.

PROBLEM AREA: The uncomprehending person. Headstrong, ponderous, inflexible, ruled by "time-tested" patterns of thought and persistently closed to innovations.

Feelings

STRENGTH: The serious soul. Only opens up very slowly and hesitantly, but then is loyal, reliable, dependable, dutiful, and very responsible. Can clearly set boundaries. Sensuality is well-controlled but strong. Takes feelings seriously. Is careful and tends to be mistrustful.

PROBLEM AREA: The withdrawn person. Sharp separation between feeling and actions. Reserved, closed, ice-cold, ruthlessly cool, and inconsiderate. At times sentimental, depressive, and melancholy. Denies the childlike, playful, tender side that needs devotion.

TYPICAL OCCUPATIONAL AREAS: Positions that bear responsibility in public life: politicians, state officials, managers in all areas. Wherever a good sense of lasting values is required: in the field of banking and real estate, in the insurance business, or as a trustee. Where clear structures are created and solid material (above all, stone) is processed, from the construction industry to sculpture. Professions that require a sober attitude, prudence, seriousness, and much endurance.

♒ Aquarius (the Water Bearer)

The individualist

From January 21st to February 19th

RULER: ♄ and ♅	EXALTATION: —	DETRIMENT: ☉
FALL: ♆	ELEMENT: Air	QUALITY: Fixed
CHARACTERISTIC: Warm and moist	SEX: Masculine	TEMPERAMENT: Sanguine (optimistic)

SYMBOL: ♒ = wave lines as the symbol of constant movement that disappears into infinity.

PHYSICAL CORRELATIONS: Lower leg, pancreas.	CORRELATION TO SEASONS: Cool, clear, still winter, and Carnival time.
ARCHETYPE: The wise fool.	SHADOW: The lunatic, the lonely person, the eccentric.
MOTIVATION: Originality and hunger for knowledge.	STRIVES FOR: Utopia or stoic tranquillity.
TASK IN LIFE: Overcoming old to bring innovation into the world.	PITFALL: Always needing to be special.
EXAMPLES: Great humanists, philosophers, reformers, and rationalists.	GUIDING PRINCIPLE: I know (that I don't know anything).

MYTHOLOGICAL MOTIFS: Ganymede, the cup-bearer of the gods.

CENTRAL THOUGHT: Aquarius topples old values in order to replace them with new ones. It clears away class distinctions in order to produce equality between employer and workers, the sexes, the races, varying cultures, etc. Concerned with the realization of utopia, with the freedom of the individual, and with bursting encrusted structures. At the medieval court, this principle was demonstrated in the role of the court jester, the only one who had the jester's license to speak the truth. Since the French Revolution, which resulted shortly after the discovery of the planet Uranus (ruler of this sign), its principles of "freedom, equality, brotherhood" have been on everyone's lips. Aquarius possesses extraordinary powers of abstraction, tends to view things from above, and is very imaginative and inventive.

Actions

STRENGTH: The considerate person. Strives for independence. Wants to be free from all limitations and inhibitions. Always wants to set self apart from the masses and emphasize personal qualities. After careful consideration, he or she works conscientiously, cleverly, and with endurance.

PROBLEM AREA: The withdrawn individual. Ego weakness and unmastered feelings of inferiority can lead to dangerous overcompensation. Unpredictable and slightly crazy. Has a difficult time being resolute, integrating or even subordinating himself or herself.

Thoughts

STRENGTH: The observer with a perspective. Likes to get a clear, objective picture of things, properly evaluate situations, develop far-reaching prospects, and contribute ingenious ideas from a "bird's-eye view." Original, witty, imaginative, quick-witted, bizarre, and objective; a rational, aloof mind.

PROBLEM AREA: The armchair philosopher Detached from the "heaviness of the earth," lost in intellectual edifices. Has the entire world in his or her head, but no drive to translate the ideas into action or examine them for feasibility.

Feelings

STRENGTH: The buddy. Charming and noncommittal, lively, sympathetic, fair, companionable. Feeling or showing feelings is complicated. Prefers to conceal feelings behind a friendly and cool, reserved attitude. Shies away from committed relationships, preferring to be alone. May also avoid relationships because of a love of variety.

PROBLEM AREA: The eccentric, the isolated individual. The unusual and eternally misunderstood person with claim to all special rights. Anarchistic tendencies. An anti-attitude at all costs. Fear of deep feelings in which one could get lost. Impersonal, distanced, controlled, and ice-cold, which explains being lonely and isolated.

TYPICAL OCCUPATIONAL AREAS: Professions that demand creativity and allow great freedom of movement: above all marketing, advertising, and public relations. Tasks in which the latest technology is applied, new developments take place, and inventions are made. Foresighted occupations such as futurist, and astrologer. Scientists who take unusual paths or employ the newest methods that are difficult to explain (alternative medicine and homeopathy).

MYTHOLOGICAL MOTIFS: Fish that save the heroes (Jonah) by swallowing them and spitting them out after a phase of purification (rebirth).

CENTRAL THOUGHT: Pisces has great longing for spiritual experiences, transcendent worlds, or simply release from the confines of the body, which can be experienced as a prison. Pisces places little value on the values of this world and is therefore willing to make sacrifices to help others. Boundless sympathy often moves Pisces. This is the sign of great spiritual advisers who listen and understand without evaluating. Their problem is developing a distinct feeling of self-identity, which is why Pisces tends to experience the Ascendant as the ego instead of the Sun.

Actions

STRENGTH: The guided individual, the altruist. Seismographic sensing of outer impressions and inner knowing about the right point in time. Is inclined more toward strongly instinctive, passive reactions than active, resolute actions. Understands the art of "being able to let things happen." Willing to help, self-sacrificing, selfless.

PROBLEM AREA: The eternal victim. Constantly makes oneself into the pitiable victim. Flight into illness and depression. Manipulates others with helplessness. Charming facade which can conceal a contradictory personality that behaves in a vicious and cruel manner. Chameleon-like feigned accommodation, instability, and vulnerability to seduction that borders on being controlled by others. In danger of becoming addicted.

Thoughts

STRENGTH: The intuitive person. Good antenna and unerring sense of correlations are the qualities of a great creative fantasy, the insights of which often cannot be substantiated. Strives for insight and wisdom.

PROBLEM AREA: The vague thinker. Airy-fairy, mysterious, inconstant, and insincere. Incapable of assuming a clear, objective standpoint for more than a moment. Delusions and vague opinions.

Feelings

STRENGTH: The sensitive person. Selfless love, willing to make sacrifices. Boundless empathy, enormous ability for devotion, and deep understanding. Longing to become one and merge. Enchanting and bewitching, seductive, emotional, sense of delicacy, and all-encompassing love.

PROBLEM AREA: Someone who is easy to seduce. Can't set limits. Oversensitive, highly vulnerable, slightly depressive, but also capable of developing extreme harshness and coldness. Masochistic tendencies. Longing for death.

TYPICAL OCCUPATIONAL AREAS: Professions that demand sympathy, spirituality, and willingness to help or to sacrifice, such as spiritual advising or charitable tasks. The world of fantasy and imaginary reality, like the circus, theater, and film business. Art, and above all, music, poetry, and painting. Occupations that demand a strong instinct, tasks in subtle areas, such as the work of a medium, naturopath, or homeopath. Activities with or in water: shipping, fishing, and diving. The pharmaceutical industry.

Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto

The three outer planets move extremely slowly. This means that Uranus spends an average of seven years in each sign of the zodiac. Neptune takes fourteen years and Pluto twenty-one years. As a result, aspects from these planets to each other often remain in orb for years. The respective position of the sign the slow moving planet is in therefore makes a statement about the generation coming into the world during this period of time. The individual significance of such an aspect can only be read from the house position in the personal horoscope and by cross-linking it with the aspects to the personal planets.

For this reason, the following tables only show the themes typical for the sign that are characteristic for the respective generation.

The
CARDINAL AXIS

The Rising Sign or Ascendant

The Ascendant (AC) is the sign of the zodiac that was rising on the eastern horizon at the time of birth. The time and place of birth determine which sign this is. Because of the apparent rotation of the ecliptic around the Earth in a period of 24 hours, a new sign of the zodiac rises on the eastern horizon on an average of every two hours, which means that the Ascendant changes every two hours in purely mathematical terms. However, based on the slanted position of the ecliptic, the signs rise at various speeds when seen from Earth. Pisces is the quickest sign in the northern hemisphere, rising in about 30 minutes, while Virgo is the slowest to rise, with a time of more than three hours. In accordance with this, the Pisces Ascendant is relatively rare in the northern hemisphere, while the Virgo Ascendant is quite widespread. This ratio is reversed in the southern hemisphere.

The sign of the Ascendant represents the way in which you spontaneously approach your surrounding world, and the basic mood and manner with which you start something new. It also describes the experience that you had with your birth. This can be a fighting nature (Aries-Mars) or reserved and hesitant (Capricorn-Saturn). In the truest sense of the word, this could be a matter of life and death (Scorpio-Pluto) or a liberating experience (Aquarius-Uranus). This first impression of life, embodied by the Ascendant, is taken on the path through life and re-experienced in every new beginning. In the following portrayal, the attitude that results from it will be described under IMAGE, FEELING TOWARD LIFE, and APHORISM.

As the basic mood of life and the feeling of self, the Ascendant also shows the ATTITUDE TOWARD MARRIAGE AND PARTNERSHIP, the individual themes expressed by the Descendant.

The Ascendant stands for the image of the personality that the surrounding world often experiences as the initial impression of the individual. Of all the horoscope factors, the Ascendant has the greatest significance for the appearance of an individual. This is why the typical characteristics of a sign are listed under the heading of EXTERNAL APPEARANCE in the following chapter. Appearance is not just dependent on one individual factor, but is also influenced by other important configurations, such as planets in the 1st house, the Sun, or—in the female horoscope—by the Moon. In this respect, the signature listed here is only typical of the sign and should not be understood as compulsory of the Ascendant. The entire horoscope is ultimately expressed through the various aspects of the body.

When considering the Ascendant, it is important to analyze the corresponding ruling planets, their signs and house positions, as well as the aspects of the Ascendant and the ruling planets. The position of the Ascendant ruler shows where and in which manner the original energy of the Ascendant can best be expressed. One example of this, depicted in a simplified manner, is that someone with a Gemini Ascendant and Mercury in Virgo in the 3rd house encounters life with curiosity and interest (Gemini Ascendant), is capable of analytical, critical thinking (Virgo), and desires to establish contact with her surrounding world using talents relating to the spoken and written word, and enjoys presenting herself or himself (3rd house).

Planets close to the Ascendant—in the 1st or 12th house—complement and highlight the qualities of the Ascendant. But they can also mean conflicts when their themes are in contradiction to those of the Ascendant.

Because many horoscope factors are reflected in a person's appearance, the characteristics listed on the following pages for the various signs are not to be found in every person with that particular Ascendant. However, the signature specific to each sign does permit the conclusion that people with the appearance described by the sign will have a strong emphasis on that sign's energy in the horoscope.

The Lowest Heavens or Imum Coeli

The Imum Coeli (IC) is the axis at the beginning of the 4th house, the lowest point (midnight) in the horoscope. It shows the home in the spatial sense (dwelling) and emotional sense (security). It also represents homeland and origins. The IC is the most mediumistic point in the horoscope. Planets in its vicinity (up to a distance of 5°) can make corresponding statements about mediumistic talents. The image of the mother has traditionally been associated with the IC and the adjacent 4th house. However, a newer interpretation primarily sees the image of the father, his role, and the process of coming to terms with him here.

The (partially unconscious) attitude toward security, deep feelings, and how one takes root emotionally, physically, and—in the figurative sense—also spatially (house, apartment, etc.) is shown in the table on page 122.

IC in	Unconscious Attitude

IC in	Unconscious Attitude
♋ Cancer	Longing for peace, security, and tranquillity. Strong attachment to the family. Great sensitivity and depth of emotion. Intensive dreams.
♌ Leo	The feeling of security combines with feeling grand. Firm belief in one's own talents. When deep feelings are expressed, it is done with intensity.
♍ Virgo	Great need for security. Also satisfied with a modest scope, as long as he or she feels secure. Sober to critical way of dealing with deep emotions.
♎ Libra	Seeks a harmonious and stylish home. Peaceable down to the bone. Esthetic, sometimes artistic expression of feelings.
♏ Scorpio	The secretive home. Enormous inner depths that are not accessible to others.

♑ Capricorn	Depths of feeling to which it is difficult to find access. Inner toughness, great ability to see things through, need for emotional security. Needs constancy.

The Descending Sign or Descendant

The Descendant (DC) is the sign that sets (Latin = descendere) on the western horizon at the time of birth. As a result, it is always the sign opposite the Ascendant. While the Ascendant represents the feeling of oneself and of self-expression, the Descendant reflects the experience in conjunction with the other person, which makes it an essential aspect of the partnership theme. The qualities of the signs and planets on the Descendant are frequently first activated and made conscious by life in a relationship. Because this is always the complementary opposite pole to the feeling of oneself that is embodied in the Ascendant, it is quite acceptable to use the common phrase “better half” to describe the Descendant.

Although the forms of relationships listed in the following chart are an important aspect of the partnership theme, it is just one aspect of the overall theme, which is usually quite complex. Further aspects result; for example, from the distribution of the elements and the position of the masculine (Sun, Mars) and feminine (Moon, Venus) lights and planets, as well as the planets in the 7th house.

The Medium Coeli (MC) is the axis at the beginning of the 10th house, the highest point (midday) in the horoscope. Above all, it shows the themes, qualities, and tendencies that become increasingly important during the course of a lifetime and should be developed. In addition, it stands for occupation and calling, and can also describe the content as well as the type of professional work. The MC and adjacent 10th house traditionally have been associated with the image of the father. According to the newer interpretation, the image of the mother, her role, and the process of coming to terms with her is primarily depicted here. The SUN, MOON, and PLANETS in the HOUSES

The Energy of the Houses

☉ Sun

The house where the Sun stands is the area of life involved with the central development of the self. It should never be neglected. The Sun imparts the greatest experience of happiness and feelings of deep fulfillment. Whenever life appears to be empty and meaningless, or the question as to the task in life is posed, the range of topics inherent to this house contain the essential answer.

☽ Moon

The Moon house covers that area into which a person feels instinctively prompted, where his or her wish for a feeling of security and other deep longings lie. However, since the Moon is also an expression of adaptability and permanent responsiveness, this house also contains themes to which the person is open at all times.

☿ Mercury

The house position of Mercury shows where the individual prefers to use the mind, intellectual agility and skill, and in which direction curiosity moves him or her. It also shows what he or she grapples with intellectually, and in what areas he or she is always willing to learn something new.

♀ Venus

The position of Venus' house allows us to perceive where the need for harmony, peaceableness, and good taste are expressed, where the wish for community predominates, and where flirtation, eroticism, and seduction play a role. The Venus house indicates where important acquaintances are made and, in many cases, where the encounter with the life partner takes place.

♂ Mars

The Mars house represents the area of life that requires the greatest expenditure of energy. It is the area that must be conquered, where the greatest willingness to engage in conflict is expressed, where the use of force can achieve great things, but also where conflict and destructive frenzy can destroy everything again.

♃ Jupiter

Jupiter's house shows where one feels rich and independent of all outside factors. These are the areas one enters with full trust, where one is given help (or allows help), where one knows how to master problems in a natural and easy manner, and where one grows and confidently looks to the future.

♄ Saturn

Saturn's house represents those areas in life where one feels impoverished, which one initially faces with a critical, suspicious, and mistrusting attitude, or which one would prefer to completely banish from life. But the tasks that no one can avoid are located at precisely this spot. Each individual—to varying degrees—clashes with the themes of the Saturn house; but these themes are simultaneously the greatest opportunities for growth. If they are recognized and made use of, experience has shown that development takes place in the following steps:

1. INHIBITION: Rejection and contempt for the themes, which are usually recognized and perceived only in other people at the start.
2. COMPULSION: Radical turnabout and compulsive living out (at any price) of the interrelated topics that had been despised before, whereby an expansion of the previous boundaries always occurs because new ground is being broken.
3. RESOLUTION: Relaxed and serene way of dealing with the previous problem area and its complete integration into the personality.

♅ Uranus

The house of Uranus reveals the themes which a person would like to be independent of, where he or she develops a free spirit, as well as a certain uniqueness, where striving for freedom causes fickleness or, when it comes to opinions, even a "traitor" who—much to his or her own surprise—breaks a promise or a solid agreement. The Uranus house is full of surprises, upheavals, lunacies, as well as being the area of great independence, ingenious solutions, and eccentric ways of life.

♆ Neptune

The Neptune house represents the areas in which a person develops the finest feelers, sure of instincts and inspirations, possessing "cosmic antennae." This is the area in which he or she is guided, where all the important things come, or happen apparently without any effort of his or her own. However, unpleasant Neptune constellations can also indicate confusion, chaos, illusion, or addiction.

♇ Pluto

The Pluto house is primarily concerned with experiences of power and helplessness, dependencies and entanglements, as well as total transformations on the basis of experiences—usually difficult ones—from which the person emerges changed to the core.

☊ ☋ Moon's Nodes

The house in which the North Node (Ascending Moon's Node) ☊ is positioned shows the way to one's goal and the major points in life. In contrast, the Descending Moon's Node ☋ in the opposite house represents the ideas, manners of behavior, and qualities that are to be resolved.

Crazy, high-flown thinking that often disregards all the norms. Suffers strongly under the customary school system that imposes too many standards, demands too many restrictions, and progresses much too slowly. Not concentrated, restless, has too many irons in the fire (tries to think several thoughts at the same time).

SPEAKING STYLE: Spontaneous, original, lively, capricious.

♆ Neptune in the 3rd House Knowledge from the Depths

STRENGTH: The Seer. Thinking inspired from the depths. Imaginative, vivid in manner of expression. Led from within when thinking, writing, speaking, and lecturing, and therefore often does not even know where words will take him or her. The same applies to the way in which her or she learns. Writes anonymously, under a pseudonym, as a ghostwriter.

PROBLEM AREA: The Illusionist. Boundless, hazy thinking and unclear manner of expression. Constantly goes off on a tangent. Loses self in a fictitious reality. Already incomprehensible to siblings during childhood. Problems with the truth, becomes victim of untruths or spreads tall tales and daydreams which are considered to be true. SPEAKING STYLE: Overwhelming, insistent, suggestive, demagogic.

☊ Ascending Moon's Node in the 3rd House

TASK: Interpreting. Expressing complex correlations, lofty convictions, and great thoughts in the everyday language. Translating spiritual knowledge into practical living and conveying it to the immediate environment in a generally understandable manner. Making clear the relationship between noble perceptions, philosophical ideas, as well as ethical and religious values, in everyday life. Imparting practical knowledge through writing and speaking. Looking after immediate matters.

♋	☽	♃ and ♆	♄
FALL:	ELEMENT:	QUALITY:	GENDER:
♂	Water	Cardinal	Feminine

GENERAL: The Soul. The depths of the soul, premonitions and dreams, the origins, the home, the need for a feeling of security, well-being, homeland and homesickness, the evening of life, family roots, the image of the father, tradition, the way of living POLARITY: The origin in contrast to the goal in life in the 10th house.

☉ Sun in the 4th House Depths of the Soul

THE CENTRAL THEME OF THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE SELF is the home, the family, the homeland, as well as the experience of the inner world, the depths of one's own soul.

STRENGTH: Emotional Strength. Creative confrontation with the images of the unconscious as psychologist, interpreter of dreams, or artist. Strives for a harmonious connection between the inner world and the outer environment. Rooted in native soil, home-loving. Deeply rooted in family tradition and proud of family heritage. The responsible patriarch as dignified bearer of the family name. Intuitive. Intensive feelings and frequently introverted. Mediumistic gifts if the Sun is located close to the IC (up to 5°).

PROBLEM AREA: The House Tyrant. Does not manage to detach from the family and the home grounds, or has difficulty in doing so. Remains in the parental house or quickly establishes own family. Develops nasty patriarchal airs and forces own—usually—narrow-minded formulas for explaining the world upon environment. Fearful, sentimental, reserved, egotistical, tyrannical, dependent on others, depressive. Relates everything to self.

IMAGE OF THE FATHER: Self-confident, exemplary, strong.

☽ Moon in the 4th House Attachment to One's Native Land Dignity

STRENGTEI: Emotional Wanderlust. Instinctive search for emotional security and intimacy. Needs a clear feeling of belonging, a genuine home, yet is still quite mobile and likes to travel like a rolling stone. However, can adapt to a strange environment with astonishing ease. Strong relationship to the unconscious mind, the past, and origins. Fine intuitive sense of other people's needs and feelings. Imaginative, creative, artistic talent. Mediumistic gifts if the Moon is located close to the IC (up to 5°).

PROBLEM AREA: The Person Without a Home. Cannot develop any feelings of inner belonging. Restless, constantly on the road. Remains emotionally infantile, dependent on other people, and self-destructive.

IMAGE OF THE FATHER: Protective-emotional, the father in the role of the mother, or possibly unstable, moody, and unreliable.

☿ Mercury in the 4th House Thinking Along Familiar Lines

STRENGTH: Sensitive Thought. Deep understanding of the image language of the soul. Good interpreter of dreams, fairy tales, and symbols. Imaginative storyteller. Likes to work at home. Mediumistic gifts if Mercury is located close to the IC (up to 5°).

PROBLEM AREA: The Intellectually Retarded. Uncritically assumes the thought patterns and conceptual world of the family. Aversion to outside ideas. Narrow-minded, old-fashioned, unimaginative way of thinking.

IMAGE OF THE FATHER: Clever, smart, skillful.

♀ Venus in the 4th House Peace of Mind

STRENGTH: The Beautiful Home. Makes sure there is peace and a pleasant atmosphere in the domestic area. Builds a love nest there. Great emotional romanticism. Deep sensual and motherly tendencies. Has great emotional powers and strives for inner peace. Love of homeland.

PROBLEM AREA: The Little Woman. Too emotionally attached to parental home. Doesn't develop a sense of independence. Gets stuck on the parent of the opposite sex as the searching image. Imitates the parents' marriage.

IMAGE OF THE FATHER: Loving, attractive.

♂ Mars in the 4th House Emotional Uproar Fall

STRENGTH: The Watchdog. Is alert and ready to fight at any time when it comes to sheltering or protecting the home, the family, or the parents against attacks. Early and distinct striving for independence. If Mars is located close to the IC (up to 5°), this means a distinctly good feeling for emotional energies and a talent for working with spiritual energies.

PROBLEM AREA: The Center of Unrest. Rebellion, strife, and opposition in the parental home, particularly against the father. Humiliations, restriction of freedom, and experiences of helplessness usually lead to an early detachment from the parental home. Pent-up aggression and deep-seated, concealed, paralyzing rage lead to greater inner unrest with considerable emotional tensions that are difficult to bring to the surface and integrate. Frequent fights at home.

IMAGE OF THE FATHER: Strong and powerful or aggressive and hot-tempered.

♃ Jupiter in the 4th House The Good, Splendid Home Exaltation

Difficult childhood, painful feelings of not being safe and secure, emotional injuries, rejection, repression, not being loved, frustrations, and emotional insecurity. Being deeply stricken by life. Wishes he or she had never been born. Fear of intimacy and closeness. Difficulties in permitting and expressing feelings. Sees self as being very weighty, serious, and important. Shifts the search for emotional security to the outside world, such as through the acquisition of real estate as a substitute. Has a hard time finding a place to live. Usually lives below means, sometimes even spartanly (the eternal student's pad) or in cold, impersonal, comfortable surroundings.

COMPULSION: Emotional Exhibitionism. Violent attempt to express feelings and permit closeness. Group experiences or other "training grounds" as a mandatory program.

RESOLUTION: Genuine Inner Security. When inner inhibitions have been reduced and mistrust toward intimacy and closeness has melted away, trust in one's own inner security gradually grows. The deeply understood insight that only the person who deserts himself or herself has been deserted by everyone leads to the grateful feeling of inner security without outer support.

IMAGE OF THE FATHER: Strict, reserved, authoritarian, or absent.

♅ Uranus in the 4th House The Homeless or Stateless Individual

STRENGTH: The Person With No Strings Attached. Leaves home at an early age and then goes own way completely. Lives in a highly individualistic, original environment. Always mobile. Surprising moves.

PROBLEM AREA: The Test-Tube Baby. As a child, often doubts whether parents are really his or her own. Distanced relationship to the family, homeland, and tradition. Often feels like he or she doesn't belong, but is rather an alien element. Therefore no feeling of obligation to parental home or homeland. The family suddenly loses its hold. Without a homeland, uprooted, completely alienated. Vagabond.

Can also live alone in a spiritualized manner, completely untouched by environment. Mediumistic gifts if Neptune is located close to the IC (up to 5°).

PROBLEM AREA: Hazy Origins. Unclear origins, blurry family relationships. No chance of identifying with parents, family, or homeland. Constant theme of dissolution. Feels driven, without solid ground or boundaries. Feelings of homesickness without clear idea of where this longed-for homeland should be.

Profound transformations often occur through confrontations within the family or living conditions. Mediumistic gifts if Pluto is located close to the IC (up to 5°).

PROBLEM AREA: The Emotionally Shackled. Extremely strong, fated bonds to the family and/or the family heritage. Power struggles within the family. Feels obligated or coerced into fulfilling the parent's expectations instead of living own life. Vehement inner rage and aggression, but greatest difficulties in freeing self and going own way.

Searching for possibilities of expressing your own solicitude: in the family, as a physician, therapist, etc.

Taking leave of (spiritual) seclusion and becoming an integrated, active member of society.

DANGER: Forlornness. Getting lost in boundlessness instead of contributing mediumistic abilities to society. Withdrawing from everything, not clearly obeying obligations, being unreliable and forgetful, isolating self. Withdrawing from the world in an airy-fairy or fanciful way.

Has high relationship ideals and is seriously willing to enter into a committed, lively partnership of equal rank. Wants to be proud of the relationship.

PROBLEM AREA: Rich in Relationships (Quantitatively). A "wealth of relationships" can be interpreted to be "more is better," or, "If you are not with the one you love ..." This person is smug and much too comfortable to assume duties and responsibilities of a relationship or adapt to it. Separates when things get uncomfortable and goes into new, more convenient relationships.

IDEA OF PARTNERSHIP: The grand relationship (to show off).

Only falls in love in hopeless cases, waits a long time in vain for the desired person, and quickly backs down if the tide should actually turn in his or her favor. Can't believe he or she is loved on own account. Searches for guarantees and proof of love. Will unconditionally try to maintain the outer form even if the relationship has long been dead in terms of emotions. Regiments and dominates the partner.

Brings a great deal of liveliness, variety, and excitement into any relationship.

PROBLEM AREA: The Island. Very difficult relationship problems. Unwilling and unable to commit to a relationship. Strives for complete independence. Considers self something special and looks down on conventional ideals of relationships, which are meant for the "broad masses" at best. Always stays single, even within the scope of a possible marriage. Immediately breaks all agreements and promises if feelings of freedom are infringed on too much. Unreliable. Can't be held onto!

Aspects of the Sun

☉-☽	Sun-Moon: Mind and Soul

ARCHETYPE: The King and the Queen	SHADOW: The Dazzler and the Evil Witch

COMPARISON:

Father	Mother
Will	Wish
Reason	Feeling
Active	Passive
Adult	Child
Conscious	Unconscious
Mind	Soul
Waking consciousness	Dream consciousness

GENERAL: The interplay of wishes (☽) and wanting (☉), of conscious striving (☉) and instinctive urge (☽), of the masculine (☉) and the feminine (☽), of the conscious (☉) and the unconscious (☽), of the waking consciousness (☉) and the dream consciousness (☽), of individuality (☉) and family heritage (☽).

HARMONY: The Well-Balanced Individual. Harmonious accord between taking action and the willingness to simply let things happen. Finds the right mixture between wanting and wishing, between masculine and feminine portions of her nature, between the childhood self and the adult self. Well-balanced, satisfied, optimistic, cheerful, vigorous, emotionally stable.

DISCORD: The Tense Person. Vehement conflict between the heart and mind, conscious striving and instinctive urge, above all in the group of themes that correspond to the sign position of the Sun and Moon. Experiences self in the battle of the sexes. Problems with the parental home and family. Torn back and forth between the efforts of becoming oneself and a passive attitude of letting oneself drift. Intense mood fluctuations, developmental crises, and identity problems. Uncontrolled emotional outbursts and depressions. Frustrated, self-satisfied, and subjective.

☉-☿ Sun-Mercury: Cleverness

COMPARISON:

Mind	Reason
Organization	Tactic
Venturing	Calculating
Courage to face life	Agility
Will to live	Orientation

GENERAL: Perceiving, understanding, thinking through, ordering, and formulating (all ☿) what is essential (☉). The distance between critical perception (☿) and subjective wanting (☉). Self-criticism (☉-☿). Making oneself understood (☿). Since the Sun and Mercury are never more than 28° apart from each other, there are no tension aspects between these two planets. Their concurrence is judged by other criteria:

If the Sun and Mercury are in different signs, this increases the objectivity of the thoughts because thinking (☿) can take another standpoint than the will (☉). If they are in the same sign, thinking loses the critical distance to the character and is subjectively colored by the will.

The most favorable distance between the Sun and Mercury is considered to be an interval of 3° to 8° because here—expressed in images—Mercury's power of thought can develop in the Sun's best light. If the distance is less, it is called a “combust Mercury”: it no longer produces any achievements of its own but stands completely in the Sun's service, exclusively concerned with justifying the Sun's activities. The crass subjectivity of this conjunction is also valid if the two planets are not located in the same sign.

☉-♀	Sun-Venus: Charm

ARCHETYPE: The Master and the Muse	SHADOW: The Beau and the Flatterer

COMPARISON:

Essence	Grace

Core	Packaging
Personality	Charm
Inner beauty	Outer beauty
Willfulness	Striving for harmony

GENERAL: The connection of personality (☉) and content of life (☉) for a person with style (♀), outer beauty (♀), and personal charm (♀). A sympathetic/likeable (♀) and peaceable (♀) nature (☉). The Sun and Venus are never more than 48° apart from each other. This is why conjunctions, semisextiles. and semi-squares are the only possible aspects.

HARMONY: The Likable Person. Pleasant aura. A person who has a beneficial effect on others by just being there. Popular, charming, and usually erotic and seductive. Sociable, able to adapt, a good mixer, diplomatic, peaceable. Knows how to value elevated style, a cultivated atmosphere, luxury, and good taste. Frequently distinct interest in art and culture.

DISCORD: The Coquette. According to the position of the signs of the planets, cold-blooded tactics with erotic charms or crude ingratiation. False, sometimes extravagant expectations of happiness. Lapses of taste and excessive desire for pleasure.

☉-♂ Sun-Mars: Bravery

ARCHETYPE: The Courageous King and His General	SHADOW: The Tyrant and His Torturer

COMPARISON:

Leading	Implementing
Strength of will	Muscle power
Conscious wanting	Instinctive desiring

Development of self	Power of assertion
Man	Youth
Masculinity	Virile power

Lives and loves in an open, tolerant relationship based on the principle of liberty and equality. Great enjoyment of experimentation. During certain phases, experiences oneself as unfairly gagged or limits oneself in order to outrageously kick over the traces in other phases. Then lives one's freedom in such a compulsive manner that it becomes a type of unfreedom as a result. Must free oneself from every type of limitation—even those that are just supposed—in order to prove independence at all times. DISCORD: Weakness. Fear. Phobia. Has great difficulties in setting boundaries and is easily deluged by other people's expectations or inexplicable phenomena. Can't get solid ground under one's feet. Everything that appears to promise security disappears sooner or later. Even the most solid of structures dissolve. DISCORD: The Occupational Block. Inhibitions in the area of work, as well as inhibitions and obstacles when it comes to realizing one's objectives. Great doubts and feelings of inferiority in view of professional achievement. Negative attitude of expectancy. Can't let oneself be helped by others at all or has a hard time doing so. Fear of public appearances. Prefers to stay in the background.

Aspects of Uranus

The aspects Uranus enters into with the planets that move slowly usually exist for many years at a time. This is why they have less to say about the individual than the generation coming into the world during this period of time. However, there is always an individual meaning for these aspects when personal planets are included in the aspect or this generational aspect is part of a major configuration in the horoscope.

♇-MC Pluto-Medium Coeli

HARMONY: The High-Powered Person. Can activate remarkable energies of the soul—which have the effect of true magical forces in some cases—in order to achieve one's goal in life or a desired occupational position. Willingness to give up old positions and start something completely new. Leadership qualities.

DISCORD: The Power Struggle. The path in life—particularly the professional path—continuously leads to power struggles, which can result in loss of power and experiences of helplessness. But also a purely selfish, questionable use of power and the desire to want to defeat other people.

An ILLUSTRATED KEY to the HOROSCOPE

An Illustrated Key to the Horoscope

In order to experience the many levels of the horoscope in a graphic manner, it can be very stimulating to have all the planets that are connected with each other become figures. The following table provides some pictorial classifications.

In keeping with this, the astrological constellation of Sun ☉ in Taurus ♉ in the 5th house in a square to Saturn ♄ in Leo ♌ in the 8th house would read as follows:

> The King from the tribe of the Enjoyers stands in the spotlight. He isn't at all compatible with the Panicmonger from the tribe of the Greatest, who in turn stands in the underground.

If there is also a sextile from Jupiter ♃ in Cancer ♋ in the 7th house:

> He receives support through the Aristocrat from the tribe of the Helpers, who stands in the World of Partnership.

If the Sun ☉ also forms a conjunction with Mercury ☿ in Gemini ♊ in the 5th house:

> On his side of the stage stands the Local Guide from the tribe of the Smarties.

This type of interpretation may help you better comprehend aspects that are complicated and difficult to understand.

The astrological picture of the world is geocentric, which means it places the Earth at the center and describes the movement of the stars as portrayed for our eyes and our emotional experience.

This is an anachronistic absurdity only for those who see in astrology a theory of planetary influences that can be more or less cleverly explained in a mechanical manner. If, instead, we see the movements of the heavens as an enormous and extremely differentiated cosmic clock that shows us what time it is on Earth, then the geocentric perspective is just as accurate as a heliocentric viewpoint.

The abundance of stars in the heavens that appear not to move at all are called the fixed stars (for example, the seven stars in the Big Dipper) in contrast to the few planets, of which seven are visible to the human eye (Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn) and three additional planets that were first discovered in the age of technology (Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto). Apart from the comets, shooting stars, and today's satellites, these ten bodies are the only things that do not move zigzag within the picture of the heavens but systematically along an orbital path, the ecliptic. This circular path has fascinated humanity since time immemorial. It was once considered the celestial dam and the planets were seen as gods who traveled along this street. The Moon, the fastest moving, requires 28 days to wander through this circular path and thereby forms the foundation from the calculation of the months, while the Sun passes through the ecliptic in 365 days and, as a result, determines the length of a year even today.

There are a total of three different movements of the heavens that astrology records:

1. The daily rotation of all the stars of the heavens around the Earth, from which the Ascendant results, among other things.

Just as the Sun rises in the east every day, this is where the Big Dipper, Orion, and all the other constellations and planets also rise and wander across the sky to the western horizon. In the old way of conceiving things, it was said that: they travel with or through the rotation of the sky across the midheavens to set in the west.

2. The movement of the planets and luminaries in the heavens (for example, the annual journey of the Sun from the northern to the southern Tropic and back), which results in the sign of the zodiac, among other things.

The movement of the planets along the ecliptic becomes easier to visualize if we imagine that we are watching the sunset on the West Coast.

At the same place where the Sun dips into the water, the Moon and the planets will also set sooner or later. This means they are on the same path. If we observe this process for a number of days in a row, we can determine that the sunset shifts a bit further every day: to the north up to the time of the summer solstice and then to the south until the time of the winter solstice. The north-south shift results from the slanted position of the planet path in comparison to the Equator.

3. The very slow forward movement of the fixed-star heavens, whereby a new age begins every 2160 years. This movement cannot be perceived in the course of one human life without technical assistance. However, the Babylonians already knew about it more than 5,000 years ago.

The path through which the planets travel is the zodiac, the heart of astrology. The zodiac was divided into twelve equal sections by the Babylonians and named according to the constellations that formed the background of the respective section of the path along the Sun's orbit. The fixed-star formation that provides its name is called the constellation and the corresponding section of the path of the Sun's orbit is the sign of the zodiac. The background for the fixed-star heavens has moved forward in the meantime so that many people no longer understand why the section of the path was given its name. Yet, they have only lost their “name-giver” and not their significance for the earthly rhythms. The spring equinox continues to take place whenever the Sun enters the sign of Aries, no matter whether the fixed-star formation behind it is the constellation Pisces or Aquarius. Astrology observes the annual orbit of the Sun and not the fixed-star heavens!

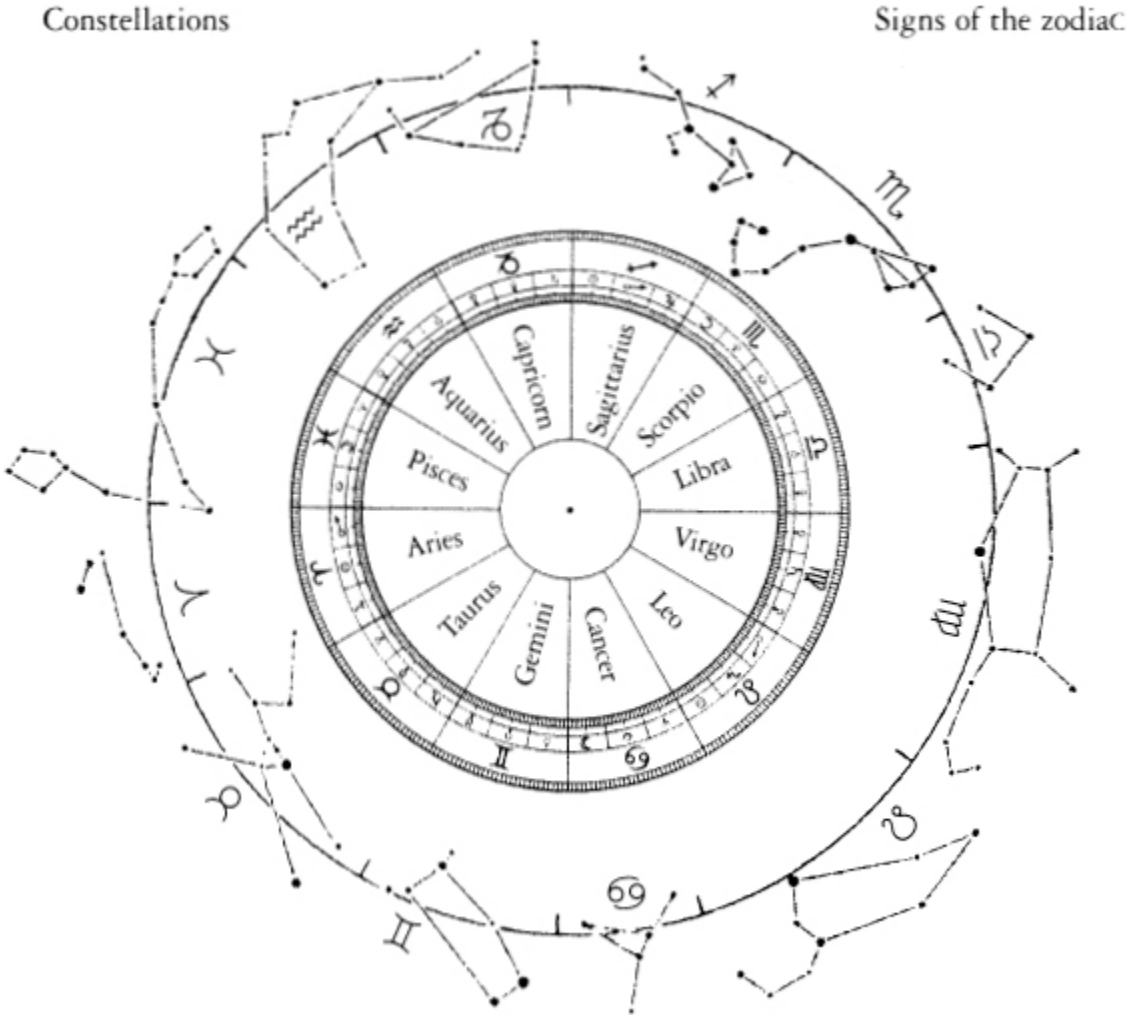

Figure 7. Zodiac in the Age of Aries. Constellations and signs of the zodiac are identical.

The zodiac formed by this orbit of the Sun serves as the ground map in determining where which planets are at a certain time. A horoscope is the description of these planetary positions, seen at a certain point in time from a specific place.

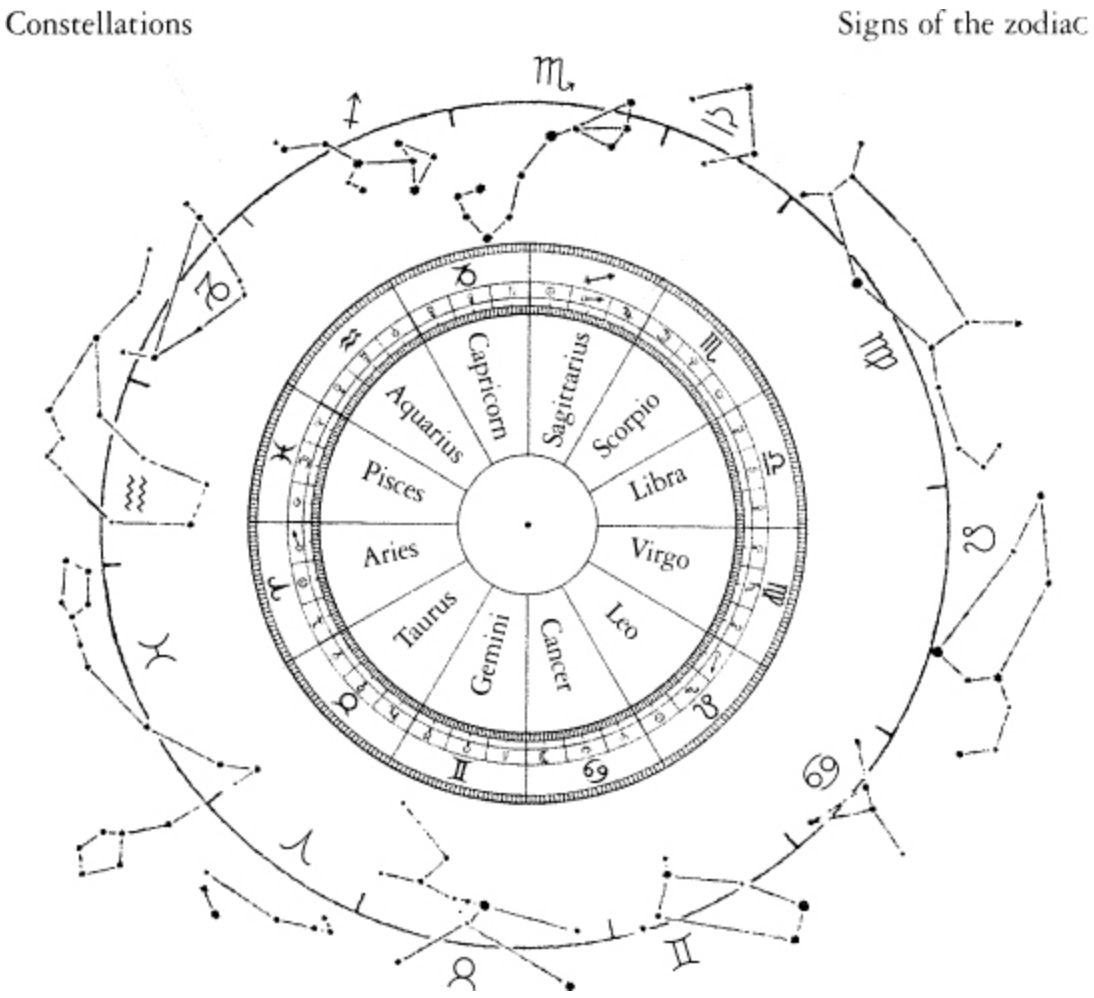

Figure 8. Zodiac at the end of the Age of Pisces. Constellations unchanged, but signs of the zodiac have moved forward.

Glossary of Astrological Terms

AIR SIGNS: The three signs that belong to the air element: Libra (cardinal), Aquarius (fixed), and Gemini (mutable).

ASCENDANT: The sign of the zodiac which rises on the eastern horizon at the time of birth. At the time of sunrise, the sign of the position of the Sun (the sign of the zodiac) is identical with the Ascendant. However, at sunset the Ascendant is the sign opposing that of the astrological sign.

ASPECTS: Significant distances between the individual planets themselves and with the system of axes points. The significant distances are those resulting from dividing the zodiac by the numbers 1 through 10 into sections). Major aspects are those divided by the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6. This creates the following aspects: conjunction 0°, opposition 180°, trine 120°, square 90°, and sextile 60°. Minor aspects are calculated by dividing by 5, 7, 8, 9, and 10 (quintile 72°, septile 51°, octile = semi-square 45°, nonile 40°, decile 36°), and dividing the major aspects in half (semi-square 45°, sesquisquare 135°, semi-sextile 30°) as well as the distance of 150° = quincunx. The harmonic theory, which divides these aspects into harmonic and disharmonious, corresponds with that of music theory.

BASIC HOROSCOPE: Map of the heavens at the time a person is born, as seen from the place of birth. (Also: birth chart, radix, cosmogram).

CHARACTERISTICS: Hot, cold, dry, and wet are the four characteristics, in various combinations, traditionally assigned to the individual signs.

CONSTELLATIONS: The grouping of the fixed stars (Big Dipper, Orion, Taurus, etc.) of which twelve, in differing positions along the expanse of the Sun's annual orbit, gave their names to the twelve sections of this path. In astrology, it is not the constellations that are relevant, but rather the signs of the zodiac that were named after them.

CUSPS: The beginning of an astrological house, starting with the Ascendant and moving counterclockwise. Since houses are the strongest at their beginning and not their calculated center, astrology places great value on the beginning of a house.

DESCENDANT: The sign that lies opposite the Ascendant and on the western horizon at the time of birth.

DETRIMENT: See Ruler.

DIGNITY: See Ruler.

DOMICILE: We use the word DIGNITY to indicate this position.

DRAGON'S HEAD: See Moon's Node.

EARTH SIGNS: The three signs corresponding to the earth element: Capricorn (cardinal), Taurus (fixed), and Virgo (mutable).

ECLIPTIC: The apparent orbit of the Sun and all the planets around Earth: the celestial circle that the Sun, as seen from the Earth, seems to follow within the span of a year.

ELEMENT: The twelve signs of the zodiac reflect three qualities in each of the four elements in the form of fire, air, earth, and water signs.

EPHEMERIDES: Astronomically calculated tables with a geocentric perspective. Contain the orbits of the planets, from which the position of each planet can be seen (at any time).

EXALTED: See Ruler.

FALL: See Ruler.

FIELDS: Same meaning as Houses.

FIRE SIGNS: The three signs assigned to the fire element: Aries (cardinal), Leo (fixed), and Sagittarius (mutable).

FIXED STARS: Stars that seem to be fixed to the "vault of heaven." They form some ninety constellations, such as the Great Bear, or Orion, and, or course, those constellations that gave their name to the so-called "star signs." They move with the heavens, so as the vault turns they rise in the East and set in the West. Human beings cannot see the fixed stars or constellations move (while we can, for example, watch Venus). Almost every star that we can see is a fixed star as there are only 10 wandering stars, the so-called "planets" (including the two luminaries) that move slowly through the sea of stars.

GENDER: The twelve signs of the zodiac are differentiated into six masculine (active, dominating) and six feminine (passive, receptive), which consistently alternate with each other: Aries = masculine, Taurus = feminine, Gemini = masculine, etc.

GEOCENTRIC: The most commonly held view in astrology, regarding the position of the observer on Earth as center of the cosmos, in contrast to the heliocentric view of the world.

HELIOCENTRIC: The view of the universe, according to modern knowledge, with the Sun as the center of our planetary system.

HOROSCOPE: Schematic representation of the map of the heavens at a particular time (at birth or another event). It contains the representation of the luminaries (Sun and Moon) and the eight planets viewed from the place of the event. The horoscope simultaneously records two movements of heavenly bodies:

1. the movement of the planets and luminaries through the zodiac
2. the movement of the zodiac around Earth.

HOUSES: The four quadrants which result from the system of axes are each subdivided into three fields. The calculation of the system of axes is identical in almost all the various schools of astrology, but sometimes the method of subdividing differs (see House Systems). The resulting twelve houses correspond with the twelve signs of the zodiac, but they are not identical. This means that the 1st house corresponds with the sign Aries (the first sign of the zodiac), the 2nd house with the sign Taurus (the second sign of the zodiac), etc.

HOUSE SYSTEMS: The way of dividing the houses varies according to the method used. The best-known are the Koch (according to DR. WALTER KOCH), Placidean (according to PLACIDUS DE TITUS), Campanus (according to GIOVANNI CAMPANI), Regiomontanus (according to JOHANNES MÜLLER) and the Equal House method.

IMUM COELI: The Lowest Heavens (see System of Axes), 4th house.

LEVELS OF MEANING: Simply said, the various horoscope factors have the following correlations: the planets show which area of the personality is addressed, the astrological signs show how and the houses show where this theme is lived out, while the aspects express the tensions and harmonies among the various areas.

MEDIUM COELI: Midheaven (see System of Axes), the Midheaven.

MOON'S NODE: The astronomically determined intersection of the Moon's orbit with the Sun's orbit, which deviate from each other by 5.9°. The two intersecting points located opposite each other in the zodiac are differentiated as Ascending (North) and Descending (South) Moon's Nodes. If the Sun and Moon are positioned together at one of these nodes, there is a solar eclipse. If they are simultaneously at the opposing point, there is an eclipse of the Moon. The Moon's Nodes are also called Dragon's Elead and Dragon's Tail and are taken into special consideration in Karmic Astrology.

ORB: The permitted tolerance of deviation in the calculation of aspects. The orbs are between 1° and 10°, according to the type of aspect and the school of astrology.

PLANETS: The eight planets and the Sun and Moon move along the ecliptic, in comparison to the immovable fixed stars, in the picture of the heavens. The seven visible to the naked eye are known as the classics (Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn). In addition, there are the planets discovered in the last 200 years: Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto.

PRECESSION: The slow advancement of the fixed-star heavens through the movement of Earth's axis. Therefore, the constellations which gave the signs of the zodiac their names move another 1° every 72 years. The result is the advancement of the firmament for the length of an astrological sign (30°) every 2160 years, which astrology connects with the emergence of a new era. After the passing of the "Platonic Year"—which is 25,850 years—the fixed-star heavens have again advanced so far that the signs of the zodiac and the constellations are positioned "behind each other." Because astrology only concerns itself the with signs of the zodiac and sees the constellations as just the original donors of the names, precession is not important for the horoscope based on "Western Astrology."

QUALITIES: Within the four elements, astrology differentiates three qualities: cardinal (impulse-giving), fixed (impulse-receiving), and mutable (flexible).

REGENT: See Ruler.

RETROGRADE: Since the planets move along the path of the ecliptic, their speed, as seen from Earth, differs according to whether they are on the long side of the ecliptic or close to the tip. Since Earth also moves along such an ecliptic orbit, it is sometimes "faster" than another planet, which makes an impression of the planet moving backwards. Especially in Karmic Astrology this phenomenon is of considerable importance.

RULER: Each astrological sign and house is governed by at least one planet (or body). The planet is said to rule the sign or house. In the opposing sign and/or house, the planet is in its detriment. There are also exaltations, which are the signs/houses where the planet is dignified and very positively placed. In the opposing sign it is said to be in its fall. The neutral positions, those other than these four, are said to be in peregrine. This tells us the strengths and weaknesses of the individual planet positions. If the planet is in the sign/house in which it rules, it is dignified and is therefore very strongly positioned. This is also true for its exaltation. If the planet is in detriment or fall, its typical characteristics can only develop unconventionally and with difficulty. This perspective is primarily important for interpretation of the aspects when desiring to find out which planets are stronger or weaker according to the corresponding aspects.

SIGN OF THE ZODIAC: A) Astrological name for the twelve equal sections (each 30°) of the Sun's orbit through the zodiac, named after the constellations (which they were originally positioned behind, but are no longer identical with, because of precession). B) Customary, though not quite precise names for the signs in which the Sun is positioned at the time of birth.

SYSTEM OF AXES: The horoscope is divided into two main axes: the East-West horizon axis and the Imum Coeli-Medium Coeli axis (noon and midnight points of the Sun). The four intersections that the system of axes and zodiac form are: the Ascendant (AC) on the eastern horizon, the Descendant (DC) on the western horizon, the Medium Coeli (MC) at the noon point, and the Imum Coeli (IC) at the midnight point.

TEMPERAMENT: The classic Greek teaching of the four basic temperaments: choleric, sanguine, phlegmatic, and melancholic have their parallels in the four classic elements of fire, air, water, and earth, and the signs of the zodiac that correspond to them.

WATER SIGNS: The three signs belonging to the water element: Cancer (cardinal), Scorpio, (fixed), and Pisces (mutable).

ZODIAC: The path of 16° on each side of the ecliptic through which the Sun, Moon, and all the planets travel. The zodiac is divided into twelve signs, each having 30°.

Notes

1. In old pictures of the zodiac, Aries is portrayed as the leading ram with its head thrown back to look at the herd following him. Symbol of horn-wearing Moses, the leader of his tribe.

2. This famous observation comes from Arthur Schopenhauer, who had a Virgo Ascendant and stayed single all his life.

3. Demosthenes was a great Greek rhetorician who had a speech impediment during his childhood. He practiced incessantly by shouting at the surf with a pebble on his tongue until he taught himself to articulate clearly and understandably.

4. "Eureka" was Archimedes' joyful cry as he discovered a law of physics, with which he could track down coin counterfeiters, coincidentally while in the bathtub. In translation "Eureka" means: "I have (found) it" and has been an expression for surprising realization since that time.

5. The Bible reports that Saul, one of the biggest persecutors of Christians, was on the path to Damascus when he had a vision of Christ that caused him to become blind for three days and three nights. Afterward, he was transformed, named himself Paul from that time on, and became one of the greatest proclaimers of the religion that he had previously persecuted with hatred. Since then, the words "Damascus experience" or "I see the light" have come to represent all deep-reaching experiences and crises of transformation.

6. Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, in whose horoscope this aspect is distinctly in evidence, coined the famous sentence: "Only the law can give us freedom."

A handy reference and indispensable guide to astrological terms and interpretation

Astrology is the language of the cosmos. For anyone interested in "reading"—that is, interpreting—a birth chart, understanding the language is key. As in any language, there are rules and patterns to follow. If you're fluent, you can articulate and understand astrological data without blinking an eye. But for people who are new to astrology—or those who just need a quick recall of key details—the terminology can be bewildering. Some even call it "astrobabble."

Authors Hajo Banzhaf and Anna Haebler take the head-scratching confusion out of astrological interpretation. The authors begin with a concise breakdown of the horoscope, presenting the reader with a solid but easy-to-grasp foundation on what reading a chart entails. They cleverly compare the horoscope to a play with the planets as actors, the signs as their roles, the houses as stages of life, and the aspects as how the players interact with one another.

Thus Keywords for Astrology is more than just a simple reference list of astrological terms. It explains all the essential configurations in a horoscope, offering a remarkably straightforward method for using keywords to interpret the correspondences of the planets, zodiac signs, cardinal axes, houses, and aspects. It weaves together the relationships between each of these elements and then expands on them by highlighting harmonious and discordant qualities. The interpretations readily apply to natal placement as well as transiting influence. This approach allows new perspectives and insights to emerge in your interpretations.

Banzhaf and Haebler combine their vast knowledge with humor and compassion, making this book a pleasure to read, and a must-have reference for your astrological library.
